BATTLE FOR EGYPT STARTS AS TOBRUK FALL WEAKENS BRITISH

Japanese Shell Coast of Oregon

Canadian Isle Also Attacked

Enemy Sub Believed To Have Dropped Missiles On U. S. Coast; Little Damage Done, None Injured.

(By Associated Press)

Submarine shelling of lonely Vancouver island in Canada's British Columbia and gunfire upon the Oregon coast from an unidentified craft lurking offshore today brought war to the doorstep of an alert and expectant Pacific northwest.

The two attacks, at points separated by several hundred miles, were about 24 hours apart. Official reports indicated no casualties and little damage at either spot.

First target was a dominion government radio station at Estevan Point, on the western coast of Vancouver island.

The shelling there began at 10:30 p. m. (Pacific War Time) Saturday and continued for a half hour.

"The shells landed on the beach or on the rocks well beyond the building," said Lieut. Gen. Kenneth Stuart, commander-in-chief of Canadian west coast defenses. "A few windows in the radio office were broken by the concussion."

Then, at 11:30 o'clock last night, residents from Seaside on the ocean to Astoria on the Columbia river, at the northwest tip of Oregon, were awakened by the sound of gunfire and the whine of speeding missiles.

"Six tmnine shells landed in the area north of Seaside," the army said in a communique from western defense headquarters at San Francisco, "apparently from an unidentified craft offshore. Firing lasted 15 minutes. No damage or casualties reported."

Eyewitnesses agreed with the army that the firing had been of no effect, but many felt certain they had heard more than nine shots.

Robert Lucas, associate editor of the Astoria Budget who was awakened by the sound, said, "I hurried upstairs to have a look toward the sea, and heard from 12 to 16 shots. The shells seemed to be landing somewhere with a great thud, but I couldn't tell what the objective was."

Lucas and others also told of seeing flashes from a gun or guns

No shells landed in Astoria, Seaside or any other community, so far as could be determined from residents in the 30-mile area.

The army's announcement that they fell "north of Seaside" sug-

'TORNADO' HITS CHESTERVILLE

Barns Wrecked, Houses Moved By Strong Wind; Livestock Killed on Farms.

Farm owners in the Chesterville community in eastern Morrow county saw their losses mount into thousands of dollars today as the result of a week-end "baby tornado" that demolished or damaged six barns and moved two houses from their foundations.

The storm struck about 10:30 p. m. Saturday shortly after a heavy rain and electrical storm hit Mansfield and southern Richland county.

Damage in the Morrow county storm was confined to a narrow strip about four miles north of Chesterville along state route 314. Property losses were estimated unofficially at more than $20,000.

Nathan Deel, who lives on the F. B. Vieg farm north of Chesterville, said the damage there would exceed $5,000. A large barn was demolished, killing seven hogs and wrecking farm equipment, and the house was moved from the foundation.

The barn at the Arthur Kennedy farm a short distance away was

PUSH SEARCH

Holmes County Officers Still Hunt For Bank Robbers.

KILLBUCK — Two unmasked bandits who robbed the Killbuck Savings bank of $8,235 in a daylight hold-up Saturday were still at large today as county and state authorities pushed a search for them.

Harry R. Weiss, Holmes county sheriff, said that "there were no new developments" but that the search for the men was being continued.

Weiss said that the bandits slugged Cashier Bernard Click, 36, when he was alone in the bank Saturday, and fled south with the money stolen from cash drawers. The robbery was discovered shortly before noon Saturday when a customer entered the bank and found the cashier unconscious on the floor.

Reporter Tells Of Watching Shelling Of Oregon Coast

ASTORIA, Ore.—(INS)—A vivid eyewitness account of the shelling of Oregon's coastline was given today by Fred Andrus, International News Service correspondent at Astoria.

Andrus witnessed the attack from his home located on a vantage point 65 feet above sea level overlooking broad stretches of sand dunes and spits that make up the northern portion of the coastline, a point ten miles south of the Columbia river.

"I was awake at the time the shelling began," Andrus said.

"My attention was first attracted seaward in a casual manner by the distant sounds of explosions and flashes of light.

"The reality of the attack didn't fully dawn on me at first, but I soon became convinced of this when the weird screams of

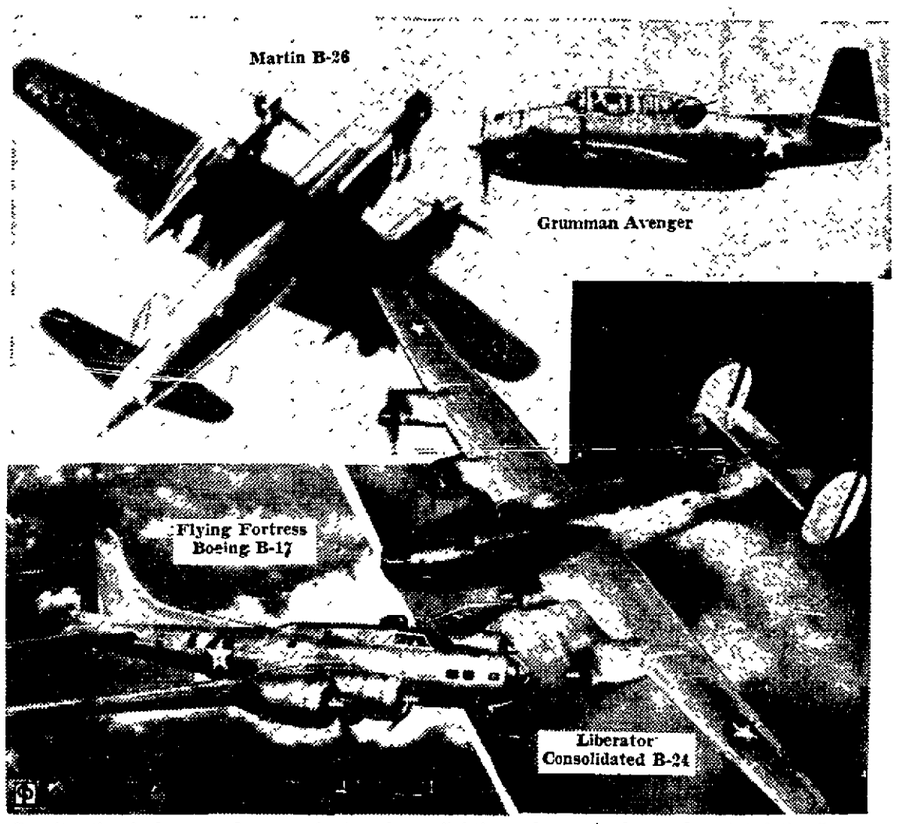
Photos Ready For Return To Owners

Hundreds of photographs of service men are being held at The News-Journal for the owners who sent them in during the last six weeks.

Owners of the photographs will help in keeping these pictures from being misplaced or damaged by handling if they will pick them up as early as possible at the business office of The News-Journal.

This applies to the photographs which have been published. Those still on hand which have not appeared to date, will be published in future Sunday editions if the pictures are suitable for reproduction.

New American War Power In The Air



Despite the bad news from the Middle East and the shelling of the Pacific coast by enemy submarines, Americans still have reason for confidence in their armed might—especially in the air. The pictures above show the latest models of American fighting planes, now being produced in ever-growing numbers. Some of them have already proved their mettle in battle. Martin B-26 bombers have smashed at the Japs in the Aleutians, and Grumman Avengers torpedo planes, devastated the Japanese fleet in the battles of the Coral sea and Midway. B-17 Flying Fortresses have been in battle on many fronts and Consolidated B-24 bombers scored a victory over the Italian fleet in the Mediterranean and also bombed Rumanian oil fields.

WITH THE UNITED STATES FLEET OFF MIDWAY ISLAND, June 6—Sixty hours ago the bugles of the fleet, clear and insistent, sounded the general quarters call. Tonight the Japanese main fleet is fleeing in disorder.

The battle really was decided during the first 24 hours. At dusk of the first day, the fleet was told it was to make a flank attack on enemy plane carriers, already crippled, and the men were advised:

"The successful conclusion of the operation now commencing will be of great value to our country."

June 5 was spent looking for the Japanese fleet, and today, June 6, has been devoted to chasing enemy stragglers. Our planes have been pounding a battleship, two heavy cruisers and three destroyers which are limping westward.

We have sunk or crippled ships of all sorts from battleships and aircraft carriers to destroyers and transports in a fleet of up to 70 enemy ships, at the cost of but one major casualty, a plane carrier which the Japanese damaged in a suicidal attack.

BLAST KILLS 3

Two Injured in Explosion at Powder Plant.

UNIONTOWN, Pa.—(U.P.)—Three men were killed and two were injured today in an explosion which wrecked a unit of the Liberty powder Co., a division of Olin Corp., located at Braddock, six miles north of here.

The blast demolished the frame building in which three men worked but did not damage any of the other buildings of the plant scattered over a large area.

The dead were identified by the company as Thomas Crayton, of Lemont; Regis Owens, of Dunbar; and Joseph Sikes, of Dunbar.

Survey Indicates Army Will Take 20 Mansfield Doctors

Mansfield within several weeks will have less than half of the number of physicians in practice here a year ago, it appeared today when a survey showed that 23 doctors have applied for Army commissions and have received their physical examinations at Fort Hayes.

At least three or four more are planning to make similar applications for commissions in the medical corps when the medical recruiting board returns to the city next Monday to confer commissions on those already accepted.

Of the total number applying, perhaps 25 per cent will not be accepted and thus will remain in civilian practice. (The current rate of 75 per cent of applicants passing their examinations is expected to hold true for the Mansfield group.

Eleven Mansfield doctors now are in Army or Navy service. If 20 more are accepted, as is now anticipated, the city will be left with approximately 25 physicians in practice out of the 55 practicing in the city a year ago.

One of the four alien refugees who are now actively engaged as physicians in Mansfield has applied for a commission.

Among those who have applied are two obstetricians. The fact

The scrap rubber collection drive entered its second week today with Richland county filling stations continuing to receive large quantities of old tires, water bottles, overshoes, and other items containing rubber.

C. L. Hartenfels, chairman of the county campaign to collect the rubber scrap, was receiving reports today from filling stations throughout the county and will make a second tabulation tomorrow. He reported Saturday that 58,000 pounds had been received at stations in and near Mansfield.

Four county trucks will start collection of scrap rubber tomorrow in outlying districts of the county not accessible to filling stations. Residents of these areas with scrap rubber piles may notify their township trustees, who

SOVIETS FIGHT YARD BY YARD IN SEVASTOPOL

Russians Admit Germans Have Driven Wedge in Defenses of Crimean Fortress.

(By United Press)

MOSCOW—Russian forces are defending Sevastopol "yard by yard" against German siege troops which had forced a wedge in its northern defenses, dispatches said today as Russia entered its second year of war.

Masses of heavy tanks smashed into the northern defenses yesterday reports from the beleaguered bastion said, but Russian resistance was continuing along the entire battle front.

At Kharkov, however, the Red army drove the Germans back across a river (presumably the Donets) in a savage counter thrust that cost the enemy hundreds of dead, and captured a number of inhabited places, a communique said.

Fighting was continuous and desperate at Sevastopol. The defenders were taking a heavy toll as they repulsed repeated attacks by German infantry and tank units.

Off Sevastopol in the Black sea, two small sloops battled two Italian torpedo boats yesterday, dispatches said, and machine-gunned an enemy submarine which crash-dived and disappeared.

(British observers believed that although some forts north of Sevastopol harbor might still be in Russian hands, the Germans had reached the north shore of the harbor in at least one point. The naval base is located on that shore, they pointed out, and said it must have been useless for several days with German artillery moving forward in support of its infantry.)

The situation at Sevastopol was considered grave, but the outlook for the entire 1,800-mile front was not as dark as a year ago today

GET TAX BILLS

Property Owners Informed Collection Opens July 1.

Collection of Richland county real estate taxes for the second half of the year will officially begin July 1, County Treasurer Charles Payne said today. The tax bill, including delinquencies, for the last-half period is $764,000.

Taxes will be received without penalty until Aug. 20, the treasurer said. Books were opened a little earlier than usual, he added, because a number of country property owners want to take vacations and prefer to pay their taxes before they leave.

Statements had been mailed today to approximately 35,000 property holders, showing them what they owe for the final half of the year. The treasurer intends to mail statements to every property owner, he said, and those who have not received their tax bills by Wednesday or Thursday should write or call his office at the courthouse.

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts)—(AP)—The Berlin radio reported from Copenhagen today that 71-year-old King Christian X of occupied Denmark had entered a hospital because of jaundice which has complicated a bilious condition from which he has been suffering recently. The announcement expressed no immediate alarm for the king, but said his physicians wanted to place him under special observation and treatment.

Defenders Report Contact Made With Enemy East of Bardia; Capture of 'Impregnable' Fortress Seen As Blow To Allied Strategy.

CAIRO—Egypt and the whole British position in the Middle East were menaced today by the capitulation of Tobruk under a smashing Axis offensive which has done incalculable damage to Lieut. Gen. Neil M. Ritchie's weary eighth army.

A British communique reported today that an Axis column was moving toward Fort Capuzzo, which is just inside the Libyan border about 20 miles south and slightly east of Bardia.

This force was contacted yesterday near Sidi Azeiz, 12 miles northwest of Fort Capuzzo, by mobile British forces operating out in front of the Egyptian border defense line, the communique said.

The bulletin gave no new information on developments at Tobruk, saying merely:

"There is no further news from Tobruk, which must be presumed to have fallen."

But Tobruk's fall could not be assessed fully in terms of prisoners and tanks captured. It was more likely that it had spiked Allied hopes for a second front in Europe this year and had prolonged the war.

The Axis seemed to have won for itself the complete initiative in the European-African theater and no one could say that a crisis had not been reached.

British sources agreed that the next few weeks would decide whether Germany could be whipped this year or next, or would be able to fight on for years. The last would be a distinct possibility if Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel could roll eastward against Suez while the Germans in Russia cut into the Caucasus.

While some British forces were still operating west of the Egyptian frontier, virtually the whole of Libya was presumably in Axis hands. It was expected here that Rommel would attempt to capitalize on his successes by striking swiftly at Egypt in the hope of dealing Ritchie's remaining forces a death blow before they could be regrouped.

Military quarters here conceded Axis claims that 25,000 of Ritchie's men had been captured by the combined German-Italian forces which completed occupation of Tobruk yesterday.

There was no denial either of official reports from Berlin that German troops had pushed on from Tobruk to capture Bir El Gobi, a desert track center 40 miles to the southwest, and the port of Bardia, only eight miles from the Egyptian border.

Military quarters here were vague as to the factors accounting for the fall of Tobruk, but it appeared the British had lost such a large proportion of their armored strength in the savage desert fighting which preceded the final assault that they were unable to offer effective resistance.

It seemed probable that in addition to large numbers of prisoners, most of the equipment which the British convoyed to Tobruk only a few days ago at great cost had fallen into Axis hands, for events moved so rapidly that complete destruction of stores would have been impossible.

While the position of Ritchie's forces which escaped this debacle were said to be holding strong positions along the Egyptian frontier, there was no disposition here to minimize the seriousness of the situation.

The fall of Tobruk, which the British had held since Jan. 22, 1941, and which had withstood a

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES AT HALFAYA PASS, June 21—(Delayed)—(AP)—Tobruk fell to Axis assault late yesterday when the defenders of the hard-pressed British bastion in eastern Libya formally surrendered. First reports indicated that some thousands of British were taken prisoner.

An all-out Axis thrust from the east pierced the heretofore impregnable perimeter of the British defenses at the port in three places yesterday, tearing open a wide gap, while the Italians shelled Tobruk from the south and west.

A British attempt to counter-attack with armored columns from the south during the day failed when the British clashed with Field Marshal Gen. Erwin Rommel's 21st panzer division.

Tobruk's fate was presaged by the heavy tank losses on June 13, when the British ran into a desert ambush.

FDR, Churchill Prepare To Make Statement On War

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill today promised a joint statement as their momentous conferences continued, but there were indications that this statement might be deferred until later in the week.

Night and day, the American president and the British prime minister are probing a critical war situation, particularly in the Middle East, but the White House said their talks had not yet reached the point where an immediate pronouncement could be made.

"The conferences are continuing in a very orderly and a very satisfactory way," Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early declared. "Neither the president nor the prime minister feels they have yet reached the point in their talks where any public statement can be made.

"As soon as that point has been reached, you may expect a joint statement from them.

"The conferences are continuing night and day between the president and the prime minister and between the British and American staffs, working under the guidance of President Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill but sometimes holding separate conference from them."

Reinforcement of the British position in Egypt with American equipment, including planes and tanks, is believed to be under consideration.

seven-month siege last year, gives Rommel an important supply port close to the Egyptian frontier and thereby vastly improves his chances for a successful thrust toward Suez.

Military quarters here said Rommel might find it difficult to move supplies through Tobruk as long as Allied air forces can contest control of the skies. It was presumed, however, that the Axis leader would hasten to concentrate strong fighter plane forces at nearby El Adem and other desert airports to protect his overseas supply line.

Despite the set-back in Libya, the city of Alexandria—some 300 miles east of the frontier—was calm today and there was no outward sign of change in the situation facing the country, which is not yet formally at war with the Axis.

Egypt's well-trained army of 40,000 regulars, augmented by 100,000 guardsmen, is ready for action, however, and actually is performing valuable service in support of the British by patrolling vast stretches of the western desert.

The official position of the government, pledged to give Britain all aid short of war, is that it will not make any declaration against the Axis powers unless invaded.

Angry British Demand Explanation of Tobruk

LONDON — (U.P.) — Parliament and public, angry and anxious, today demanded an explanation by the government, preferably by Prime Minister Winston Churchill himself, of what they called the "grave and humiliating disaster" in Libya, the worst since Singapore.

It was quite evident that whatever good news Churchill might bring back from Washington, could hardly overshadow what had happened at Tobruk.

Maj. Clement Attlee, deputy prime minister, or Sir Stafford Cripps, leaders of the House of Commons, was expected to make a statement as soon as the House met.

But parliament and the public wanted a statement by Churchill himself and a promise that the causes of the Libya disaster would be investigated thoroughly and action would be taken.

Newspapers of every shade of political opinion chorused their criticism and the Daily Herald, Labor party organ, said bitterly:

"Let us pray that the western second front, when it comes, will be organized with a vastly better appreciation of the enemy's capacity than we have shown in Libya."

There was fear here, as the Russo-German war entered its second year, that Adolf Hitler might essay a great offensive designed to smash the Allied hold on the eastern end of the Mediterranean basin and take over the middle east.

Reports 'Many' Axis Planes At Crete

ALEXANDRIA —(AP)— Commander Thanos Spanides of a Greek submarine raider famed for exploits against the Axis reported today after his return to port that "the Nazis seem to have lots of aircraft on Crete and in Greece."

"They are digging big underground hangars into the sides of the mountains in Crete and improving and extending the Maleme airdrome," the commander said. (Crete has frequently been mentioned as an obvious springboard for any Axis offensive in the Middle East.)

German Planes Attack Southampton In Raid

LONDON — (INS) — The English port of Southampton was bombed during the night by Nazi raiding planes, it was officially announced today.

Some damage and casualties were inflicted. Several other points on the south coast also were attacked.

Reverberations from gunfire believed to have come from light naval forces shook the channel coast during early morning hours.

Germans Halt Flight Of British By Sea

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts)—(AP)—A German motor torpedo boat flotilla attacked a formation of small British coastal craft and freighters fleeing from Tobruk yesterday morning and completely destroyed it, the German high command declared today.

One patrol boat, six coastal craft and one freighter of 4,500 tons were sunk, three other coastal craft captured and 175 men taken prisoner, the communique reported.

Already a German mine-sweeping flotilla has entered Tobruk harbor, it was said.

The German command said the number of prisoners taken at the Libyan seaside fortress, previously reported to be 25,000 had been increased to 28,000.

ents will be drawn from army and navy reserve lists.

Non-students, as well as present CPT students, between the ages of 18 and 37 years will be eligible for the courses, Harrington said. This is an expansion of the original 18-to-27 age limitation.

Training which will be offered will include all phases of pilot training except the advanced instruction for combat pilots.

Enrollees in the new CPT program will pass a Civil Aeronautics Athority mental test and commercial examination and will be enlisted in the reserve corps in a new category whereby specific numbers will be called at completion of certain courses for duties in the army. Others will remain on inactive status as civilian instructors, airline pilots and co-pilots.

The many thousands of pilots with previous flight experience will be eligible to enter this training at an advanced stage, Harrington said. By full-time ground and flight training they will be quickly qualified as civilian instructors for army contract schools or CAA pilot training schools, thus releasing more seasoned instructors to military activity.

The shooting took place in front of an apartment house in which both men resided and, according to Sheriff Jack McKeever, followed an altercation earlier in the evening.

Wolford was shot through the heart and died instantly. Richardson was arrested in the home of his divorced wife's father. Sheriff McKeever said Johnson claimed he shot Wolford when the latter threatened to "knock my ears down" after accusing Richardson of having affairs with Mrs. Wolford.

Reds Battle Yard By Yard In Grim Sevastopol Defense

when Adolf Hitler sent his legions into the western provinces. Then, foreign military observers believed Germany would quickly conquer Russia. Today, President Mikhail I. Kalinin said in the government newspaper Izvestia that the Germany army no longer is "powerful enough to execute a general offensive along the whole front."

Soviet leaders were supremely confident of ultimate victory and regarded the recent reverses in the Crimea as "small episodes in the changing fortunes of war." They believed the Red army, supported by a country now totally organized for war, was stronger than in 1941 and able to crush whatever onslaughts Hitler's promised new offensive might bring.

Sevastopol was in the 16th day of the all-out German offensive. During two weeks of unrelenting battle, at least seven Axis divisions, approximately 105,000 men, had been destroyed, Russian sources estimated. These included five German and two Rumanian divisions, part of the Axis force which has besieged the Black sea naval base for eight months.

The army newspaper Red Star admitted the Sevastopol situation "remains tense," with the Germans increasing their pressure. Twice within 24 hours, it said, the Soviet defenders threw back enemy infantry attacks supported by tanks and planes.

The Germans made a third attack, Red Star's correspondent said, and "under pressure from superior enemy forces the Soviet troops retreated to intermediate positions and on the way kept exhausting the enemy and inflicting heavy losses."

Gen. Fritz Erich Von Manstein brought up fresh divisions to storm the bastion from the northern and southern sectors, dispatches said. His regulars having been destroyed or exhausted, he was using reservists from supply detachments, they reported.

Despite their losses, however, it was evident that the German attacks were becoming fiercer. Waves of German planes attacked continuously. The newspaper Pravda said Soviet units in advance pillboxes continued fighting although their positions were surrounded and German soldiers actually swarmed atop their emplacements.

Hull Pledges Steady Aid For Russia

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Declaring Adolf Hitler's plans for world conquest have been "frustrated" by Russia's heroic resistance, Secretary of State Hull has promised the Soviet Union an ever widening stream of war supplies.

Hull, in a message to Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov, congraulated Russia yesterday on the first anniversary of her fight against the Nazi invaders and declared the Axis powers would discover "before the end of another year" that they had underestimated the United Nations.

"You can count on us to assist you by every means in our power," the prime minister added.

FDR-CHURCHILL STATEMENT DUE

Conferences Now Believed To Be Concerned With Help For Middle East.

United States, the president and the prime minister are thought to be giving special attention to the urgent problem created by the unexpectedly quick fall of the British stronghold at Tobruk and the general retreat of the British forces to the Egyptian border.

Responsible sources in Washington said that the swiftness of German Gen. Erwin Rommel's advance in Libya undoubtedly is now foremost among the subjects under discussion between the two great democratic leaders.

The failure of the British forces to hold Rommel in check in Libya, and especially the rapid capture of Tobruk, came not only as a surprise but as a shock to official Washington.

Only a few weeks ago, the British are understood to have been sanguine in their confidence concerning the prospects of the Libyan situation.

If it should be ascertained that poor generalship is responsible for the British setback, it is expected there will be a quick change in the high command in Cairo.

The present uncertainty of the British position in Egypt is seen likely to have an important bearing on the question of opening a second front in Europe this year.

Safety Council Reports 12 Percent Boost In Industrial Deaths.

CHICAGO —(U.P.)— The national safety council today reported sharp increases in industrial accident deaths for the first five months of the year as a result of "expanding employment and the increasing tempo of wartime production."

For the five-month period accident deaths reported to the council by industrial commissions of 23 states numbered 3,555 an increase of 12 percent over the comparable period of 1941.

The May total of 781 was 11 percent above May, 1941.

gested they might have plowed uselessly into some part of the 16 miles of sandy wastelands between the ocean city and the Columbia river.

Royal Canadian and American naval units were reported to have launched an immediate hunt for the attacker, presumably a Japanese submarine.

At Tokyo, a naval commentator quoted by Domei gave indirect support to the belief that the attack upon Vancouver island, at least, was made by a Japanese craft.

This "must have been a great shock to the United States and Canadian peoples," he said, citing the assault as refutation of Secretary of War Stimson's recent statement that U. S. victories at Midway and in the Coral sea had lessened the danger of Japanese attack upon the American coast.

The shellings in British Columbia and Oregon were the second and third instances of hostile action against the North American mainland since the start of the war, and the first since Feb. 23.

At dusk on that date a large submarine surfaced off Goleta, Calif., seven miles north of Santa Barbara, and fired some 25 shells at an oil field and refinery along the ocean front. One hit was made on an oil well derrick, causing minor damage.

Japs Push Eastward Along Aleutian Chain

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Under cover of fog and thick weather, Japanese landing forces have inched along the Aleutian island chain toward Alaska and now are establishing themselves at Kiska, only 585 miles from the United States army base at Dutch Harbor.

This was disclosed in a communique yesterday that told of the bombing of "a small force" of enemy ships in Kiska harbor. Army fliers reported hitting one cruiser and sinking a transport.

While the number of ships actually in Kiska harbor may have been small, observers pointed out that presence of a cruiser might indicate that a force of destroyers and auxiliaries was somewhere in the vicinity.

The communique said operations in the Aleutians "continued to be restricted by considerations of weather and great distances."

"Within the last few days, however," it added, "the weather was sufficiently clear at times to permit some restricted air operations against Kiska where tents and minor temporary structures were observed to have been set up on land."

The navy reported on June 12 that a small enemy force had landed on Attu, a barren, rocky islet marking the westermost tip of the Aleutian chain. At that time the presence of enemy ships at Kiska was noted, but they were reported shortly afterward to have been driven away.

Kiska, formerly used as a navy coaling station, is about 275 miles east of Attu. About 20 miles long, it is sparsely inhabited by Indians and a few white traders.

Jap Attack Fails To Frighten Americans

ASTORIA, Ore. — (INS) — If the Japanese or other unidentified enemy agents who fired shells at the Oregon coastline last night thought that the citizens would flee in terror, they were mistaken.

The American habit of following fire engines or ambulances was pursued by the residents of Clatsop county, Oregon, who quickly gained vantage points to watch the enemy wasting powder and ammunition on the sandy seashore.

Hundreds of spectators were drawn to the scene.

"Some fireworks, huh?" queried a 'teen-aged lad.

A native of Plymouth, Mrs. Loudon moved to Tiro in 1922 where she was a member of the Lutheran church. Her husband, Thomas, preceded her in death. She was the last surviving member of her family.

Reporter Tells Of Watching Shelling Of Oregon Coast

the shells came to my ears.

"As near as I could judge, there were about a dozen shells. My count may have been confused by the thud and explosions that followed the flashes. The shells were spaced regularly apart with only a few seconds separating each shot as indicated by the flashes at sea.

"It was hard to judge just how far out to sea the craft was. No one could see the attacking boat. There was an irregularity to the shrill of the shells. You would see some flashes but hear no noise from an approaching shell. Then again, one would come in with a strange and peculiar whining whistle. There would be a thud and at other times a louder report, but no flashes were seen on the beach to point out the spot where the explosions might have taken place.

"The immediate beach where the shelling took place is made up of lone sand dunes and spits. If the shells landed in that region, they would be buried harmlessly in the sand and might account for the strange thuds."

Andrus said the shelling was heard and flashes were seen in Warrenton, Ore., and that some windows were reported shaken in Astoria. Others, he said, reported hearing sounds of the firing from the Washington coast across the Columbia river.

The Saturday night storm brought .93 of an inch of rainfall to Mansfield and more to the southern half of the county where road berms were badly washed, County Engineer Howard Sword said.

Rain of cloudburst proportions and severe lightning accompanied the Morrow county storm. Fields over most of the county and as far south as Ashley in Delaware county were flooded.

Warmer weather and scattered thundershowers were forecast for the Mansfield area this afternoon and tonight. The Saturday night storms were followed by cooler weather with the mercury reaching a top of 81 degrees Sunday. It was 73 at noon today.

THE WAR TODAY

By DE WITT MACKENZIE
(Wide World War Analyst)

Marshal Rommel's capture of Tobruk, and the precarious position of Russia's great naval base of Sevastopol under furious German assault — operations vitally linked with Hitler's attempt to break into the Caucasus and Middle East—bring us appreciably nearer the moment when the Nazi chief will unleash his full pack and race for a kill.

Tobruk has fallen. Sevastopol seems to be tottering.

The British now are back on Egyptian soil, preparing to defend their mighty base at Alexandria and block the road to the Suez canal. Obviously the position is serious.

The problem now is to defend Egypt and the canal, for they must be held at all costs. We don't know how much the British have salvaged from their shattered eighth army which was operating in Libya, though a considerable force withdrew across the border. Apart from this, there are the Egyptian army of 40,000 well trained men and 100,000 Allied guardsmen.

So far as concerns land forces, it's doubtful whether Rommel could at this moment muster more men than the defense appears to have, although he is superior in tanks.

However, it seems to me that the battle for Egypt is likely to turn on air power, in which case the British presumably will depend heavily on the United States for reinforcements. This doesn't mean that more troops won't also be needed, for they will, but the most pressing matter is air power.

This may be the time when Hitler will cut loose that vast air fleet he has been grooming for so many months. One of the most significant news dispatches of the day is the report of a Greek submarine commander, who has just returned to Alexandria, that "the Nazis seem to have lots of aircraft on Crete and in Greece." From these positions the Germans could attack either the Middle East or Egypt.

The greatest danger is that Hitler may not only stage a violent air offensive against Egypt, but may also reinforce Rommel with air-borne troops and supplies. Therefore control of the air over Egypt becomes a matter of paramount importance, and it will be surprising if the British aren't urging the immediate dispatch of substantial air reinforcements from the United States.

The capture of Tobruk may permit Rommel to make a quick stab at Egypt. He will want to catch the British before air and other reinforcements can reach them, even though his army undoubtedly is weary.

One of Rommel's greatest difficulties will be his ever-lengthening line of communication. Possession of Tobruk is a Godsend to him in this respect, since this stronghold was a powerful barrier on the great military road skirting the North Africa coast. Naturally, this capture also protects Rommel's flank as he advances, and gives him a port through which to receive supplies, if the British navy and Allied airforce can be stood off.

All that sounds pretty grim—and it is—but Allied mastery of the air over Egypt would entirely change the set-up.

DOCKET OF 22 CASES BEFORE GRAND JURORS

Two Murder Investigations Top Session Which Opens In Court Wednesday.

With its heaviest docket of cases involving violence in more than five years, the Richland county grand jury will convene at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday to begin its investigation of at least 22 cases.

Scheduled for hearing by the jurors are two murder cases, a second-degree manslaughter case, two involving charges of shooting and cutting with intent to wound, and four robbery cases.

The murder charges, first in the county in three years, are against Ernest Moore, 19, former Mansfield reformatory inmate, and John Johnson, 42, colored, accused of slaying his wife, Mary. A first-degree murder charge was filed against Moore in the slaying of Charles Dickerson, 31, a fellow inmate. Johnson is held on a second-degree murder charge.

Accused of manslaughter is William E. Ross, Grand Rapids, Mich., truck driver, who was cited in connection with the death of Charles F. Crump, 65, of Ashley, in a truck- automobile accident May 5 south of Lexington.

Prosecutor Harold Lutz, who left Mansfield Saturday for induction into the army, plans to return to assist Acting Prosecutor John C. O'Donnell with the jury session which is expected to last three days.

It was understood that Lutz had been sent to Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., today and O'Donnell was not sure that he will be back in time for the grand jury session. Members of the prosecutor's family had not learned at noon today whether he had been accepted by the army.

Cases set for investigation by the jury also include.

Walter Laser, accused of auto theft; Princess McQuirt and Clay Chaney, grand larceny, George Richardson, burglary, Eugene Martin, James Smith, Sam Schambera, and John Lee Asbury, robbery; Carl Ackerman and Karl Kennedy, forgery; Raymond Bates, breaking and entering; Harold McClellan, Mansfield, R. D. 5, perjury; Jesse Carrick and Carl Lightfoot, non-support; John Bonner, shooting with intent to wound, and Carl Clark, abandonment.

A now-it-can-be-told legend circulating in high Washington places has it that the president has been pleading with Elmer Davis to accept his new post as director of war office information for several weeks, but Davis has not been over-eager to accept the job. Finally, a number of local literary lights (including, so the tale goes, Wollcott, Clifton Fadiman and Ed Murrow) sent a flood of messages to the White House in a sort of "Draft Davis" move. Franklin P. Adams topped everything by sending a wire, not to the president, but to Mrs. Roosevelt. It read: "DEAR NELL—TELL POP I'M FOR ELMER."

WPB SHAKEUP DUE IN WEEK

Reshuffling of Officials To Tie Board Closer To Army, Navy.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Complete reorganization of the war production board, including a reshuffling of some top officials, probably will be announced this week, with indications that WPB's future operations will be tied even more tightly to demands of military strategy.

Heading up the personnel changes, it was learned today, will be the transfer of William H. Harrison, chief of WPB's production division to the war department, where he presumably will take over an important post in the procurement setup of the service of supply.

Of major significance in plans for the new setup is a move to bring WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson and the army and navy chiefs of staff into closer contact, with a view toward increasing elasticity of war production to fit swiftly changing military requirements.

During recent conferences with Captain Oliver Littleton, British minister of supply, Nelson told reporters that the combined British and American production board intended to aim for standardization of military equipment, and close coordination of British and American war production with strategic and tactical developments on all United Nations fronts.

The WPB shake-up, it was understood, would effect this coordination so far as the United States was concerned.

Officials made it clear that the changes would not be based on the recent report of the senate defense investigating committee, criticizing dollar-a-year men in WPB. The new setup is to be based on recommendations of Dr. Luther Gulick, head of Columbia university's school of business administration, who has spent two months here studying kinks in the agency's operations.

Prohibition Party Denied Place On State Ballot, Application Late.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The Prohibition party today was denied a place on the ballot at the Aug. 11 primaries by Secretary of State John E. Sweeney.

Sweeney reported that their application to place a slate of candidates on the ballot was received June 5, whereas it should have been received before May 3 to meet requirements of the state law which states that parties must file at least six months before the general election.

OHIO'S GIN STOCK RUNS OUT, THERE'LL BE NO MORE UNTIL—

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Ohio gin is just about gone, and there isn't going to be any more until . . .

Liquor Director Jacob B. Taylor said today stocks in state liquor stores likely would be exhausted within a month and in view of government restrictions of use of 190-proof alcohol, no more gin could be obtained until after the war.

Whisky supplies are ample, however. Taylor said that even if distillers should be forced to stop production, they have sufficient supplies for five or six years.

"But if the war should last 10 years," Taylor remarked, "we'll all have to walk the straight and narrow."

Elimination of gin sales likely will reduce the state's liquor revenue about 7 per cent, or upward of $3,000,000 yearly, the director said. Ohio sold 191,000 cases of 12 quarts each during 1940, present figures showed.

Taylor said that night clubs and bars anticipated the shortage and had stocked up. Consequently it will be possible to get a gin drink for some time, but after a few weeks you won't be able to stop off at the state store and take a bottle home.

Revive Hunt For Torso Killer In Pittsburgh Death

PITTSBURGH—(U.P.)—Memories of Cleveland's "mad butcher of Kingsbury run" were being revived today as police investigated the death of a man whose headless body was found in the Monongahela river here.

A post mortem examination of the decapitated body found yesterday, conducted by Dr. T. R. Helmbold, coroner's physician, disclosed that the head had been severed cleanly with a knife. It had apparently been in the water about three days.

Indication pointed to the same type of mutilation employed by the "mad butcher" who terrorized the Cleveland vicinity for several years, and whose victims have been found on occasion in the Pittsburgh and New Castle, Pa., districts.

The body was nude, and the only identification marks were two scars from vaccination and one from an operation.

WAR VETERAN KILLED

"Begging the Captain's pardon, Ma'am, but the Captain's slip is showing!"

A 22-year-old youth passed a bad check at a downtown furniture store the other day to purchase a chair but unquestionably he didn't want to enjoy its comfort. Police reported that the youth, who gave his name as Robert Stevens, ordered the chair delivered to an East Fourth street address and received $14 change from the $28 check he presented. When the store employes attempted to deliver the chair, they found that the address was nonexistent. Police were furnished with a description of the youth and are investigating the case.

County Treasurer Charles C. Payne is helping the postman deliver the county tax statements for the second half of the year because he has found he can save money that way. Payne said he can mail statements in the county villages for one cent each if he delivers them to the postoffices, while it would cost three cents to send them from Mansfield. He lives in Shelby so he took the statements for property owners there with him and mailed them for two cents each, the same as the rate in Mansfield.

EMMONS ASKS RESIDENTS TO LEAVE ISLAND

Commandant Warns of New Japanese Thrust at U. S. Outpost.

(By International News Service)

HONOLULU—Lieut. Gen. Delos Emmons, military commandant for Hawaii, today urged all civilians not engaged in war work to evacuate the islands as soon as possible.

He warned the populace not to be lulled into a false sense of security because the Japanese had been driven back from Midway in a smashing defeat.

That the enemy would not attempt to regroup his forces and use every weapon at his disposal for a new thrust at the Hawaiian islands, Gen. Emmons stated, was the most dangerous kind of wishful thinking.

"It is important for the war effort," Gen. Emmons said, "that all civilians, especially non-resident women and children and dependents not engaged in essential war work, to plan evacuation to the mainland and to depart as early as possible."

The general issued instructions for the registration of non-essential residents so that arrangements could be made to take them back to the United States.

"The outcome of the Midway battle," he continued, "has given many a false sense of security. Nothing can be more dangerous than such an attitude.

"To assume that the enemy will not return in force and use every weapon at his disposal is the most dangerous kind of wishful thinking.

"I urge all non-residents not needed for war work to place their affairs in shape and depart to the mainland as soon as space is available.

"Practically all army and navy dependents have been evacuated. There will be some space available for a limited time."

New WPB Order To Curb Painting And Decorating

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The war production board has simplified matters for the husband and wife who have tired of the color of their living room walls and cannot agree on the new shade.

The verdict is: Get along for a while without any new painting.

A new conservation order issued by the board places all civilian construction and remodeling under rigid control.

Necessary changes can be made but, in the words of the order, alterations should not be "dictated by a change in taste."

Thus, repainting and redecorating needed to maintain an apartment, home or office in reasonably satisfactory condition or to return it to that condition, is permissible.

But on the other hand, unnecessary repainting or redecorating either by the landlord or the tenant or the ordinary home-owner is not allowed.

United Nations Far From Victory

SOME IDEA of the extent to which "quick victory" talk is being overdone is gained from fair consideration of war happenings that enter into today's news.

Enemy bombs have fallen in Oregon; all civilians not engaged in war work are being urged to leave the Hawaiian islands as soon as possible, because of likelihood of another attack; the Libyan battle has turned disastrously against the Allies and Tobruk has fallen to the enemy after having apparently been safely in British hands; Sevastopol is under serious threat as Russia enters the second year of resistance against Axis onslaughts and the Japanese are infiltrating further westward in the Aleutians.

Italy has been largely disregarded as an important factor in the war; yet it was Italian forces that strengthened Rommel's drive through Libya in the whirlwind assault on Tobruk and it is Italy that torments Britain in the Mediterranean. The fighting ability of Japan was scoffed at by the United States before Pearl Harbor and boastful Americans predicted the Nipponese would be wiped out in a couple of weeks.

Instead, the well-equipped Jap hordes have had a triumphant swing through the Far East and are now menacing the west coast of the United States while Nazi submarines are creating havoc with east coast shipping.

Great Britain, Russia and China are depending to large extent on help from the United States and the entire western hemisphere is looking to this country for protection against enemy attack. This country is not only expected to finance the war but also to provide military equipment and other supplies needed by all of the United Nations.

The task is a gigantic one and it is much too early to take victory for granted. As matters now stand it is the Axis powers that are winning the war. A turn must be made in the other direction before people in the United States can feel safe against meeting the fate that has already befallen many other countries.

War Spurs Anti-Racket Action

MANSFIELD has thus far escaped the pressure that is being put on officials in many other cities to enforce anti-gambling laws and thus "turn thousands of dollars from racketeering channels into war bonds."

Akron is seriously engaged in such an effort, but according to the chief of police of that city, fifty more policemen will be needed to stamp out the lucrative rackets now operating. "The only way to clean them up," the chief said, "is to put a man in each place and leave him there—there is cheating the minute the officer leaves a gambling place."

But a current news story from Detroit indicates that hiring MORE policemen does not necessarily bring better law enforcement, or elimination of commercialized gambling.

After conviction on charges of conspiracy to protect a multi-million dollar gambling racket, fourteen former Detroit policemen were sentenced to prison last week, and a former mayor and former prosecutor are appealing earlier convictions.

Also sentenced as a result of the same grand jury investigation were eighteen handbook operators, bookmakers and other gamblers.

In announcing sentences the trial judge placed scathing emphasis on the defendants who, "as public officials and police officers deliberately set about to garner the contaminated fruits of corruption."

A more tolerant attitude was shown by the court toward the actual gamblers, who, "at the hands of a very tolerant and indulgent public, and without serious or effective interference from the police or other law-enforcing officials, have for years, with boldness and impunity, engaged in gambling enterprises forbidden by the letter and spirit of the law."

In cities, large or small, where commercialized gambling rackets of all sorts are permitted to operate without police interference, there is justification for the suspicion that somebody in authority is being "cut in" on the profits being derived from these illegal enterprises, as this has long been the customary way of buying "protection."

Experiments have shown that it is not the SIZE of a police department, but the INSTRUCTIONS given its members, that determines the extent to which gambling rackets are permitted to operate—and to what extent they must be concealed from public view.

Now that the need is seen to divert to the war effort some of the money that has been wasted by gambling addicts in enriching racket promoters, the acts of officials who tolerate this form of law violation may be more closely scrutinized.

Horseback Riding Regains Favor

THIS should be a great year for "dude ranches" of the west and other holiday resorts that offer horseback riding as part of the pleasure. One can go to Yellowstone national park on the train and take one of the regular tours through its many wonders, with only a dollar or two of government tax added to the normal cost of the tour. Side trips will not be taken by motor, but on horseback, and at some of the hotels—both those in the park and resort hotels elsewhere over the country—strings of saddle horses are already being assembled for the use of guests.

With motoring as a pastime greatly reduced, possibly for several years, interest rises in the older forms of transportation. After all, people realize, this country was built up to greatness before anyone thought of using gas engines. The pioneers used horses, and went where they pleased, with or without roads or trails. The moderns, surely, can do no less than show their own powers of horseback endurance.

For the most part, however, hard work and persistence in the face of dire fatigue will not be called for by civilian riders. They will be out for a good time, and if they learn to take proper care of their horses, they have it.

As nearly as can be judged by reports it is the cold of winter, the mud of spring and the heat of summer that keep the Nazis from taking over Russia.

Nobody has to "fake" atrocity stories in this war; the terrors that Nazies brag about are more atrocious than anything that could be invented.

Set to appropriate music, here's an idea that may be popularized: "Save your rubber, every scrap, the least little bit may rub out a Jap."

History repeats—and costs more each time.

National Capital's Serious Plight

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, according to Secretary Harry Walker of the Maryland Retail Grocers' organization, following a visit to the national capital, "is the only lunatic asylum" he knows of "that's run by its own inmates."

If, by its own inmates, Harry refers to the burg's permanent citizenry, he does 'em an injustice, at that. Heavens above!—they don't run the place. It's run for 'em by congressionally elected lunatics from all over the country. Even as lunatics, locally they're totally irresponsible. A ward alderman in the town of Podunk is answerable to the voters who choose him. But suppose Washingtonians have a legitimate holler on the sort of government THEIR municipal council's dishing out to 'em. Why, they've got to do their yowling all the way from Seattle to Portland (Me.), and from there on down to Miami, and thence westward to San Diego, and hundreds of intermediate points. A fat chance they stand of getting any unification, on such a basis, relative to the District of Columbia!

Now, on the level, the situation is serious.

Washington, under wartime conditions, has become a whale of a metropolis.

Doubled In Size.

New York and Chicago and St. Louis—such centers—accreted by degrees, pretty swift ones, maybe, but not so fast that they couldn't assimilate newcomers a bit gradually. Washington, already overcrowded, has aproximately doubled in a matter of months. The census doesn't fully show it, because the growth has been so rapid that the census couldn't keep up.

Now, believe me, the situation's horrible.

To say that folk live in shacks doesn't express it. They live several families in a shack. They haven't toilet accommodations—not only no baths; no anything else.

The health authorities are scared.

But THEY can't dictate. They have to appeal to CONGRESS—and congress, as previously remarked, is as far away as Seattle, Portland (Me.), Miami, San Diego et cetera. And what do THEY care about the District of Columbia!

A few congressmen are uneasy. They're afraid that, while legislating there, THEY may catch some of the germs. Generally, though, they're willing to take their chances with cholera, typhus and assorted contagions—if the epidemics get bad enough they can beat it for home and healthier surroundings.

Some of the disagreement is national.

There are rubber-ites who contend that the whole rubber scare is phooey—that we've plenty of rubber if we conserve it. The gas shortage has been widely pooh-pooh'ed. Possibly all that's part of the exaggeration. It concentrates in Washington, though.

Sugar Rationing.

And sugar? It's contended at present (and in conservation circles) that we've an outright surplus of it. It's rationed, but the government's being represented today as having to provide storage facilities for an over-supply.

It appears that the sugar folk started to pinch in sooner than they needed to, realize at present that they didn't need to do so, and would like to quit but hesitate to do so, lest they gave a black eye to the whole rationing proposition. That is to say, admitting that they were off their trolley as to sugar would be apt to make the public skeptical on the subject of rubber and everything else.

But as to Washington's nuttiness?

If you're a Washington old-timer and you have business to transact with an old-time Washington agency, that you're acquainted with, you can do it.

But if it's a new, emergency agency!—Heaven help you.

The agencies that tell you where to go, to see the RIGHT agency, have got it on any governmental agency ever invented heretofore.

The thing was simplicity itself in 1914-18.

The supposedly informative offices now are the limit. In fact, they're impossible.

The more you investigate, the less you know.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, June 22, 1922.

It was believed that death toll would reach 50 in massacre of non-union miners during outbreak of violence at Herrin, Ill.

Thomas R. Barnes was elected president of the Central Ohio Manufacturers' association, at meeting held in Bucyrus.

Work of improving Ashland road from city limits to Ashland hill was started.

Mrs. A. W. Metz, South Main street, was injured when hand was caught in electric wringer.

Birthday party was given for Mrs. H. H. Chesrown, 253 South Mulberry street.

Sales force of the Lapham Clothing company enjoyed outing at Holtz grove.

Miss Helen Reidel and Harold E. Crum were married in Shelby.

TODAY IN HISTORY

June 22, 1812, marked Napoleon's declaration of war on Russia. Assembling a huge army of more than half a million men, the emperor began what proved to be a fruitless effort. A few months later, he retreated from Moscow with only a few thousand survivors. Cold, hunger and the hostility of the Russians had overcome his forces. On this date in 1941 Russia was again invaded. This time by Germany.

Health and Diet

War Conditions Cause Stomach Ills.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

MOST interesting and, to a certain extent, peculiar news comes to us from England. This information is that after the evacuation from Dunquerque by the British army a veritable epidemic of ulcer of the stomach broke out in the troops which had returned from the Low countries.

Other forms of digestive disturbance also occurred, so much so that in a group of invalided soldiers admitted to a hospital near London, there were 175 medical disorders, of which no fewer than 41 (23.5%) were cases of stomach disorder and of these, after careful examination, 34 were actually found to have some form of ulcer of the stomach.

Remember that these men had been passed by a medical board before being accepted and many of them were members of the regular British army, so it is assumed that they were in good health before entering service. The number of ulcer patients far outnumbered diseases in the numerical groups closest to them such as bronchitis, pneumonia, rheumatism, etc.

In attempting to formulate the cause for this outbreak one must remember food factors. Most of the soldiers ascribed their symptoms to the army food. Undoubtedly under the conditions which prevailed during the retreat, most of them lived for days on rough food badly cooked and served at irregular intervals. When they had no food in the stomach they probably had a nervous secretion of acid gastric juices for a long time which would predispose to the formation of ulcer.

The tobacco factor is also stressed. There were only three non-smokers among all the dyspeptics. One patient with a duodenal ulcer used to smoke as many as 60 cigarets a day. The average consumption was over 12 a day.

Tobacco, if used excessively, unquestionably upsets the digestive function and under the nervous strain of being under constant gun fire, unquestionably a man who under ordinary circumstances is a moderate smoker would, from nervousness and restlessness, step up his tobacco consumption two or three times.

Another factor which is mentioned in the English reports is oral sepsis. Again we can understand that under conditions of warfare the toilet of the mouth with toothbrush and toothpaste would have to be neglected.

The "trench mouth" of the last war was an indication of this and here again we have a cause that is known to operate under ordinary circumstances in the formation of ulcer. The whole study indicated the fact that has long been suggested, that nervous conditions play a certain part in the formation of ulcer of the stomach or duodenum.

A side effect of this condition has been that a great many English X-ray men who were doing ordinary medical duty have been recalled to take charge of the X-ray laboratories in order to confirm the diagnosis of stomach ulcer.

An X-ray man is always a good doctor besides being an X-ray man, and during war conditions it was found that most of them would be more useful in general practice than in X-ray practice.

Timely Editorial

What Carelessness Cost.

Secretary Knox's report to the president that the Navy Department will salvage the liner Normandie, now lying capsized at her pier, permits a rough estimate of what carelessness cost in this disaster. The salvage job, of unexampled complexity, will take at least a year and will cost an amount in seven figures. Until salvage is nearly complete, no decision about the use to which the liner will be put will be attempted. On Feb. 9 the Normandie was almost ready to enter service as a transport. With luck she may be ready for service again by the middle of 1943.

The old proverb about crying over spilled milk may have been put into circulation originally by the one who spilled the milk. There may be no profit in suffering anew the chagrin and humiliation caused by the Normandie disaster, but if there is a chance that this combination of carelessness and divided responsibility could be repeated, all Americans ought to dwell on the circumstances of this disastrous chapter. — New York Sun.

Convoys to Russia Are Hampered By Exceptional Ice-Pack Squeeze

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—To help patrol Hawaiian waters, the navy, after Pearl Harbor, ordered requisitioning of many private craft, including yachts and cabin cruisers owned by wealthy Americans who have vacation residences in Hawaii.

Yacht owners were informed they would receive fair compensation, to be fixed by the U. S. Maritime commission. This was readily agreed to by most owners, some of whom patriotically offered even to give their boats to the government outright. But there was one notable exception.

Among the craft ordered taken over was the sumptuous yacht, Kailani, owned by Doris Duke Cromwell, the tobacco and utility heiress, famed before her marriage as "the richest girl in America." Naval officers were startled to receive a letter from R. W. Swearingen, Mrs. Cromwell's Honolulu agent, asking $35,000 for the Kailani.

This price, Swearingen added, did not include Mrs. Cromwell's "sport fishing outfits and a few personal articles now on board."

"The original cost of this vessel," he wrote, "was in excess of $50,000 and approximately $15,000 has been expended in making alterations and improvements for her use in Hawaiian waters. Mrs. Cromwell offers to dock the vessel to permit your examination of the underwater structure and to conduct any trial operations considered necessary.

The "offer" was bluntly rejected.

The lawyer was told to inform Mrs. Cromwell to hand over her yacht immediately, do her price dickering later with the Maritime commission.

Supplies to Russia.

THE fates and the weather were good to the Russians last winter. But now another twist of fate and the weather are working against the United United States and Russia.

It so happens that the polar ice cap this year has come farther south than at any other time in 100 years. This has pushed the shipping lanes by which U. S. convoys carry supplies to Murmansk, closer and closer to Norway and the powerful Nazi bases there.

Result is that only 200 miles of sea separate the polar ice packs and the coast of Norway—a very narrow gauntlet for ships to run, facing simultaneous attack from Nazi submarines, airplanes and destroyers.

This is why there have been losses on the route to Russia. It is also why the United States has not been able to deliver all the supplies promised Russia—though it has tried desperately and the Russians have tremendously appreciated the effort.

To prey on this shipping, the Nazis have developed one of their strongest bases at Trondheim, Norway. There they have not only submarines, but land-based airplanes. They also have the advantage during the summer of nearly 24 hours of daylight. This handicaps submarines, but helps airplanes.

Therefore, convoys skirting the north tip of Norway have to fight a running battle for three days before they can reach Murmansk. It is continuous day and night fighting, with scarcely a wink of sleep for the crews. Merchant vessels bristle with armament. Gun-crews have been giving a magnificent account of themselves, but the odds are tremendous—and will continue to be until the Allies can establish a second front in Norway.

France Goes Anti-Nazi.

IT CAN be no secret to the Nazis that scores of Frenchmen are sneaking out of France to England by small boat or even airplane. Some eventually have found their way to the United States.

The story they tell is one of the most encouraging of the war pictures, but it shows our state department to be lagging months behind in its policy toward France.

The people of France, say these heroes of midnight channel-crossings, are so far ahead of the U. S. state department that it would be humorous if it were not pathetic. U. S. food shipments to French North Africa, they say, won't help win over the French people; if anything, will retard the independence movement there.

The French have been won over by much greater issues than food, and are insulted at the state department's idea that they would sell their souls for a mess of pottage.

Here are the major developments which have really influenced France:

1. The behavior of the Germans in France.

2. The fact that Britain was not only able to prevent Nazi invasion, but now is so effectively bombing the continent.

3. The resistance of the Russians.

4. American entry into the war.

Of all these, one of the most effective incidents was the British bombing of the Renault motor plant(Frenchmen had been tipped off to leave in advance), and the dropping of the French flag along the Champs Elysee by a British fighter plane last week.

So when the Big Push does come, it will find an enthusiastic French people anxious to cooperate.

Note—The French fleet, these Frenchmen say, now will not be turned over to Hitler—not because of food shipments, but because the French sailors won't permit it; and the Nazis haven't got the 35,000 naval personnel available to man them.

Capital Chaff.

DONALD NELSON has spent some time in Senator Truman's office recently trying to dissuade him from issuing the senate report critical of dollar-a-year men. . . . Congressman Clyde Ellis of Arkansas is financing his campaign for the senate in a unique manner. Long an enemy of the power trust, he is getting contributions from farmers and small electricty users who suffer from high local rates. . . . After more than a year, congress finally has vindicated David Lasser, one time head of the Workers Alliance. Although a militant foe of Communism Lasser was barred from government employment by a cabal of anti-labor congressmen who wrote provisions in the 1941 WPA budget. This unfair ban has been eliminated in the 1942 budget. . . . First to give to the Navy Relief Fund was Walter Winchell, who forked over 5,000 bucks. . . . Friends of Juan Trippe, czar of Pan American Airways, have been sending out feelers about having him made assistant secretary of the navy. No great enthusiasm so far.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The Capital in Wartime:

For the first time in history, the Washington Monument — which vies with the Statue of Liberty as the nation's greatest landmark—is making money. Unless you are a child or a member of the armed forces in uniform, you now pay 10 cents to ride up in the Monument elevator. You can't duck it by climbing the stairs either. The stairway is closed for the duration. The first day of the 10-cent elevator fee brought in $72.60. It's a small sum, but not when you multiply it by 365 days. Out of the almost 1,000 persons who took the ride to the top of the monument on its initial payday, more than 200 were on the free list.

The idea of charging a dime for an elevator ride to the top of the monument emanated from Secretary Ickes' Department of Interior, which supervises all national parks and memorials. Why, somebody asked, shouldn't all memorials be made to pay for their upkeep in these days of super-taxation?

WASHINGTON housing problems are creating strange little resident communities but none stranger than the yacht and houseboat tenants tied up along the Potomac. One yacht owner with a four cabin boat has rented cabins to four young naval officers—rental, $30 a month per cabin—not bad when you consider that the owner couldn't get fuel enough to chug back from a drift into mudchannel under present gasoline rationing. A woman government official has leased another immobile yacht, with a single cabin, for $100 a month. It has luxury furnishings, but no shower. Every day the lady walks two blocks to a riverfront seafood restaurant to get her scouring under a shower marked "For Women Employes Only."

Speaking of housing, there has been more talk and less construction of government war worker dormitories here than almost anything else in the war program. Although housing agencies generally deny that there is anything wrong with the proposed program, the verbal threat of "forced billeting" is getting louder daily.

IF YOUR boy friend (etc.) in the armed forces is honored with a war "medal" for heroism, distinguished service, or special merit in training, and comes home with only a strip of ribbon on his chest, don't doubt him. The frequently awarded medals nowadays are operating under the same priorities as refrigerators, tires and juke boxes. When the war is over and metals are cleared of restrictions, the medals will dangle from those ribbons. It's an army and navy promise. Until then, the ribbons will have to do.

A Farmer's Diary

Rare June

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

RARE JUNE is going fast. Like thoughtless, carefree childhood's play, the joy is too intense . . . it passes ere we believe it has begun. Of all the twelve months of the year, I would hope that June might have twice as many days.

The earth still is fresh, although the tender woodland flowers, arbutus, trillium, violet and purple phlox, are gone. Dark green leaves hang from maple and oak, as living canopies. Wild strawberries are luscious scarlet on the hill. The shy wild rose, with its flaming antlers and soft flaming petals bears strange beauty to pastures and neglected fence rows. Down from the slope, at this very hour, floats the scent of wild grape bloom. Even in the afterglow and the twilight of early dawn, I catch faint hints of its scented haunting loveliness.

Straight checked rows of corn stand like waving plumes of green across the varicolored countryside. From any angle that I choose to look, the clean straight rows stand plainly visible. The wheat fields bloom in June and during the latter weeks change to graceful waves of golden grain. Shocks of barley, duly ripe, dot the open fields. Alsike and clover hay is mowed, and great loads move toward the barns. The square green flanks ripple and sag as the wagon wheels sink into the hollow of the field. The scent of new mown clover hay, in June, is like a breath of paradise.

June, when public schools are out and long and free vacation lies ahead. Then one can sit upon the bank of some cool stream and fish; can watch the tiny rafts of bubbles move slowly by, or listen to the acrobatics of some fish that plunges upward and plops back again, making ever widening circles, on the surface.

June, with soft bluegrass so tender and tall that I may lie prone upon my face in its cool bed and dream, unnoticed and concealed. I gaze through the maze of tiny stems about my face, catch the odor of fragrant earth beneath, observe the size of the ants and the crickets at close range, wonder at the movement of the grasshopper and see the slinking angleworm back quickly into his cell. June, when "every clod feels a stir of might,
An instinct within it that reaches and towers,
And groping blindly above it for light,
Climbs to a soul in grass and flowers."

A Man's Woman + + +

By Jane Dixon

(Copyright, 1942)

CHAPTER XII

Ronnie Farnsworth's sports car darted around the curved drive and stopped before the house with a slushing of tires and a protest of brakes. He was over the side and up the steps with the speed and easy grace of a young man who knows what he wants and who has every intention of getting it. In flannels and sport jacket, he had an almost Latin sleekness, a gay insouciance that was disarming.

"Hi folks," he greeted. "Am I off limits? Oh, beg pardon . . ." He appeared for the first time to see the visitor.

"Ronnie," Kay said, forcing herself to a task, "this is Mr. Fowler, Mr. Gary Fowler. Mr. Fowler, Ronald Farnsworth."

The men exchanged brief greetings.

"You're staying in Somerset?" Ronnie asked, to break an awkward pause. A close observer of contacts would have detected more than polite interest behind the inquiry.

"For the present," Gary said, vaguely. "And now, if you'll excuse me, I must be getting on. Good evening Mrs. Kenyon. Good evening Kay. S'long Farnsworth."

"Thanks for getting me home —safely—Gary," Kay said.

"Do come again Mr. Fowler," Ellen Kenyon said.

"Good bye," Ronnie said.

The two men were taking each other's measure. Gary turned and walked, with quick firm step, into the darkening shadows.

* * *

Two words beat a tattoo against Ronnie's consciousness. "Kay." "Gary." More than casual acquaintance. When had these two met? Where? How long ago? The man was a stranger in Somerset. Yet he did not seem to be a stranger, to Kay.

Ronnie exhaled a thick plume of cigaret smoke. "Who's the long, lean Adonis? New to these parts, I'd say."

"He's an engineer out at the mill," Kay said. The weakness of that moment of terror when she had escaped death or worse by a split second was upon her again. She wished Ronnie would go. She needed to be alone, to relax, to think.

"Ha! Horny-handed son of toil, eh? What does he do, fire furnaces?"

Kay said, with more tautness than the occasion warrented: "You wouldn't understand, Mr. Smart. He's one of those engineers you wouldn't know about. Engineering the hard way."

"Jeeps, sister," Ronnie said penitently, "no offense meant. The way you put it, the fellah's quite a guy. How about slipping on your snood and going bye-bye with papa?"

Kay leaned back in her chair, closed her eyes. She had gone pale again. "Thanks, Ron. I'm tuckered out. You run along like a pal and leave me to my feathers."

"The deuce I will." Ronnie could be stubborn. "If you're down to your uppers on the old resistance stuff, so am I. Let's be tuckered out together?"

Ellen Kenyon fluttered into the scene. "But supper daughter. Neither of you young people have had a bite of supper, I'm sure of it. If you'll sit here quietly, for ten minutes . . ."

Ronnie jumped to his feet.

"What, no supper?" he said. "Put on your bonnet, Mrs. Kenyon. We're all going to the Country club."

"Ronald, I couldn't possibly." This from Ellen.

Kay murmured, "Skip it Ronnie. I'm going . . . bye-bye . . . in this chair."

Silence. The tree crickets were fiddling. Night perfume came in from the tangled garden.

"Well what do you know?" Ronnie was observing Kay. He was as near to awe as ever he had been. "I tell you what, Mrs. Kenyon. I'll sit here in this chair, catch a wink or two and listen to that foolish orchestra in your garden. Would you care to join the slumber party? I know it's early, but a wink in time saves nine."

"Thank you Ronald. There's the kitchen . . . I'll tidy it up if you will stay here for a few minutes. It's the work—on her feet all day. My little girl isn't accustomed to clerking in a store."

"I'm the guard," Ronnie said. "Think nothing more about it, except your little girl—I wish I could say my little girl—is not going to clerk in any man's store. Not if I can help it. I want her to be my partner, my life partner. Will you help me arrange it, Mrs. Kenyon."

A spark of something she had not known in years lit in Ellen Kenyon. Commitment. She had committed herself to that which she could not fulfill. She had undertaken a partnership in a way of life she could not measure. With Cora and Asa. But this—this was her child flesh of her flesh, bone of her bone. This she could not fail. This was different. Another fibre of being, eager and honest and determined. She, Ellen Kenyon, had proved herself inadequate.

She said, "I like you, Ronald, as if you were my son. I'd be happy to have you for my son; if you would let down the bars and be the fine young man I know you are, instead of acting like what they call a play boy. But Ronald, I will do nothing to influence my daughter in her choice of a husband. That is her right, to choose. I married the man I loved, still love in memory. I pray my daughter will do the same."

"I understand," Ronald said, "I'm not the praying kind. Maybe I'm not the man."

An interlude. Then, the telephone. It rang insistently. Kay gave no sign of response. She might have been in a coma. Ronnie snipped his cigaret over the porch railing. He too, had been in a coma, of a sort.

Dimly he heard Ellen Kenyon's voice, answering the call. Quietly, then with a mounting excitement. Words, but unintelligible. Excitement that had gone to panic.

He waited.

Time enough to catch up with the rough side when it comes along.

Quick tapping foot-steps and then Ellen Kenyon came to the porch. Obviously she was in a panic, but she was a mother too, and she lowered her skittering voice so that she would not frighten her daughter.

"Ronald," she said, "something dreadful has happened. They found Elsa in the swimming pool at the Country club."

Ronnie said, checking his own inner alarm. "Nothing unusual about that, Mrs. Kenyon. We all hit the swimming pool, at one time or another."

"But — Ronald, Elsa was not swimming. She . . . she . . ."

"Not—"

"No." Ellen Kenyon wrung her hands. "Elsa is in a very bad way. They had to use a pulmotor. Ronald, she's not in her swimming suit. She's fully dressed."

"She is?" Ronnie threw away a match he had started to light. "She must have tripped."

"They're bringing her home. Her mother. I don't know where Cora is. Or Asa. Oh, Ronald—what can I do?"

"Don't do anything. Is her room ready?"

"Yes, yes. I straightened it out myself, this afternoon after Elsa left. Ronald, if only I knew where to find her mother, her father. It's all so sudden, so dreadful, I don't know which way to turn."

Bombardiers At Midland Field Raring To Go

MIDLAND, Texas —(INS)— Get ready to sigh, girls.

There's a new crop of heroes coming up, and they're going to blast their way right into the heart of a nation.

That's the unofficial tip coming from officers at the world's biggest bombardier college, the Midland Army Flying school, where, deep in the heart of Texas, the first class of "Hell from Heaven Men" is graduating this week. They've put three months of rigorous training with the super-secret bombsight behind them and now they're raring to go.

"These are, in fact, the most dangerous men in the world, the ones who will leave their marks on the cities along the Rhine, and on the places where the Nipponese men are swarming," so the word goes. "With the first raid on Tokyo, the bombardiers have already stolen some of the glamour that once was the pilots' alone. When the second and third and umpteenth raids come along, these boys are going to be among Uncle Sam's most sought-after males."

Soon, the faces of the "Hell from Heaven Men" will be familiar to Americans everywhere, it is predicted.

Your worn-out rubbers...

...may save a soldier's life!

SO BRING IN ALL YOUR

¾ lb. of reclaimed rubber is enough to make an American soldier's gas mask.

SCRAP RUBBER NOW!

● Your old rubber is needed for life belts and rafts, for gas masks, tank treads, raincoats and many other things to equip and arm our fighting forces. It is needed for every tank, bomber and battleship we build. America needs every bit of rubber you can spare—needs it now!

Are we going to let our boys down? Not on your life! So search the attic, the cellar, the garage, the barn, gullies and field, for every scrap of unneeded rubber you can find. And bring it in to any gas station today.

DON'T DELAY! LOOK AGAIN! GET IT IN NOW!

If you've turned in all the rubber at your house, ask your neighbors to search for rubber. Look for rubber where you work; look in trash piles anywhere—at garages, factories, stores, along country roads, under bridges; search community dumps.

There's more scrap rubber yet to be found than has been found. Come on Ohio! America needs it, and time is short!

President Roosevelt has designated all Ohio gas stations as official collection points and set the standard price of 1¢ a pound on scrap rubber. There is no profit for any company helping in the collection.

Gasoline dealers will be reimbursed by the oil companies supplying them, and the rubber will be bought at exactly the same price paid for it by the Rubber Recovery Corp., a new Government unit. All money for donated rubber will go to Army and Navy Relief, the U. S. O. and the Red Cross. Oil companies, with others, will contribute transportation and all costs of picking up and handling, as well as the time of thousands of employees. All scrap rubber collected will be immediately added to our country's vital supply.

MARTHA CONSTANCE WEDS OTTO BUBLAT

Bride's Brother Officiates for Ceremony Sunday Afternoon In Grace Gospel Church; Reception Follows.

AT 3 O'CLOCK Sunday afternoon, Miss Martha Mary Constance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Constance, 282 West Third street, and Otto H. Bublat, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bublat of Fairfield, Conn., were united in marriage at Grace Gospel church. Rev. George S. Constance of Colombia, South America, brother of the bride, officiated for the ceremony. The altar was attractively decorated with palms and delphinium.

A short program of nuptial music preceded the service. Pianist was Miss Dorothy Sowers of Westerville, cousin of the bride. Gordon Tropf played the vibra-harp and Robert Baltzell of Shelby was soloist. Numbers included sacred music on the vibra-harp and piano, and the vocal selection, "Jesus, Rose of Sharon," by Gabriel.

Mr. Constance gave his daughter in marriage. The bride's floor length gown was of white silk marquisette made period style with a full skirt, short puff sleeves and sweetheart neckline. A coronet of white velvet flowers held in place the fingertip length veil. The bride's only jewelry was a gold locket and bracelet, gift of the bridegroom. She carried a white prayer book from which there were streamers tied with tiny white rosebuds and baby's breath.

Miss Ruth A. Bublat of Fairfield, Conn., sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. She wore a powder blue period style taffeta gown fashioned with a full skirt with shirred panels, sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. She had a tiara of blue roses in her hair. Miss Baublat's bouquet was of yellow roses and blue delphinium. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Constance chose a chiffon print ensemble with white accessories. Her corsage was of Talisman roses. A blue chiffon dress with lace inserts was worn with white accessories by Mrs. Bublat, mother of the bridegroom. Yellow roses formed her corsage.

David, William and Thomas Constance of Mansfield, and Edwin Constance of Columbus, all brothers of the bride, were ushers for the wedding. Gottfried Sjoblom of Montclair, N. J. served as best man for Mr. Bublat. Following the ceremony a small reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. There were approximately 35 guests. Refreshments were served buffet style by the five sisters-in-law of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Bublat went to Lake Erie on their wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a green and white silk dress with black and white accessories. They will reside for the present with the bride's parents.

Mrs. Bublat was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and the Missionary Training Institute at Nayack, N. Y. Mr. Bublat is a graduate of Roger Ludlowe high school, Fairfield, Conn., and the same Missionary Training Institute that his bride attended. He is assistant pastor of Grace Gospel church.

Out of town guests at the wedding and reception were the bridegroom's mother and sister, from Fairfield, and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Sowers of Westerville.

Home-Made Clothes Win Prizes

By SUSAN BARDEN
(International Illustrated News Writer.)

The second annual national sewing contest, which closed recently in New York, was keyed to the nation's war conservaton program and definitely showed what women throughout the country could do by way of conserving on both material and money. Many of the costumes were made for a dollar or two, and even the most expensive rarely went over the $17 mark.

A new classification was included this year which included work clothes and remodeled garments which was approved by the consumer division of O. P. A.

All of the outfits that were shown were made at home by contestants, and many were original designs created by women in their own home towns.

The three ensembles in the above photographs wer all prize winners in different divisions of the contest, and they give an excellent idea of what amateur seamstresses can do right in their own homes to create smart and inexpensive wardrobes.

Muslin, Canvas Combined.

Jane Waddell made the interesting three-piece ensemble, right. It consists of a dress, coat and hat outfit which cost only $5.05. The dress is one piece made of unbleached muslin trimmed with red cotton bandannas. The coat of matching undyed canvas is trimly tailored reefer style with patch pockets and red buttons. The hat is made of the same canvas that was used in the coat. It is a variation of the pillbox with a material bow in back.

The dressmaker suit (left) was created by Mrs. Anthony Zulic. It came in the higher priced clothes brackets because it was made of wool, and costs $17 to make. The suit is beautifully tailored in moss green with buttons covered with the suit material. A frilly blouse completes the outfit.

The center picture shows an original design created by Madeline McCoy, another prize winner. It is a simple gray spun woolen frock trimmed with a navy and gold scroll. It features three-quarter-length sleeves and a rounded neckline. With the frock is worn a navy straw off-the-face hat and navy sandals. The dress cost only $4 to make, and is so classic in its smart lines that it can be used as a basic dress to wear with different accessories and hats.

Ruby Boyer, Robert Rush Wed Saturday

Miss Ruby [illegible]. Boyer and Robert E. Rush exchanged vows Saturday evening at 8:30 in the Mayflower Congregational church. Officiating for the service was Rev. Elwyn Owen. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Carrie M. Bower, 520 Grant street.

The altar was decorated with palms and two seven branch candelabra. Organ music played by Mrs. Owens was Friml's "Indian Love Call," "Liebestraum" by Franz Litz; and during the ceremony she softly played the couple's favorite hymn, "Oh Master Let Me Walk with Thee." Miss Marjorie Miles, soloist, sang "Because" by Guy D'Hardelot and Victor Herbert's "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life."

For her wedding the bride was attired in a white silk jersey afternoon gown with a waist girdle. The white belt had gold trimming and a gold buckle. The gown had short sleeves and a high round neck. From her white pill box hat extended a veil of a delicate pink shade, which fell around her shoulders. Her bouquet was a white orchid surrounded by pink roses.

Her attendant and one of her twin sisters, Miss Lucile Boyer, wore a two piece maise crepe dress. Her hat was modeled after that of the bride's, but had the ribbon and veil matching the gown. An orchid surrounded with yellow roses formed her corsage.

Mrs. Boyer chose a pink crepe dress with white accessories and a gardenia corsage. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a black and white ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias. The bride's cousin, J. W. Galbraith, former common pleas judge, gave her in marriage. John Grohol, brother-in-law of the bridegroom was best man.

After the wedding a reception was held at the Colonial guest house for members of the immediate family and close friends. A large white three tier cake with a miniature bride and groom on top was set on ferns laid on the table. Encircling this were white Madonna lilies. Crystal candelabra and service were used.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Lacey of Cleveland, Miss Lettie Arter and Mr. Ray Emptage of Shelby. The couple then left for a trip to Long lake at Altena, Mich. Mrs. Rush wore a two piece red suit for her traveling costume.

There new home will be in the latest Zediker apartments on Woodward avenue. The couple both graduated from Mansfield Senior high school, after which she attended Mansfield Business Training school. Mrs. Rush is employed in the accounting department of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company. Mr. Rush, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rush, 262 Linden road, is employed by Uhlich bakery.

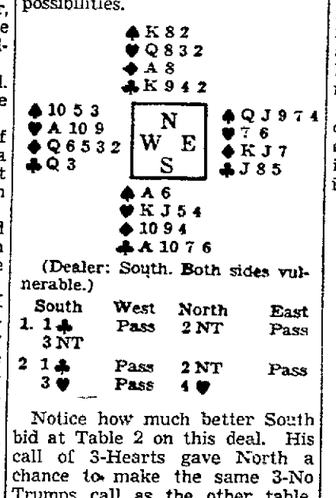
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

A SAFER SITUATION

When there is a sound major suit available—that is, eight trumps, regardless of whether there be four in declarer's hand and four in dummy, or with them divided in some other way—it is nearly always safer to play for game in that suit than in No Trumps. That is especially so if the side's two hands both contain doubletons or singletons in different suits, which may be liabilities at No Trumps, but are assets for suit play because of the 'ruffing' possibilities.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1. 1 ♣	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 NT
2 1 ♣	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥

Notice how much better South bid at Table 2 on this deal. His call of 3-Hearts gave North a chance to make the same 3-No Trumps call as the other table, and in addition a whack at 4-Hearts if it happened North held four of them, as he did. In other words, South covered more possibilities with his second bid. North's response of 2-No Trumps on the first round was eminently correct, with so many suits that would be better with the lead coming up to them than through them.

At Table 1, North took a pasting, since East was a player with vision. With the opponents having bid hearts and clubs, his choice of lead was between spades and diamonds. Deciding his own hand was too weak for his spade suit to be hopeful, and that diamonds would surely be his partner's suit, he led the diamond K. North ducked, and the J was then led to the A. North's only apparent chance now was to find one defender holding originally only two diamonds, plus the heart A, so he led a heart, but when West won that, he sent North to defeat with three more diamonds.

At Table 2, South received an opening of the diamond 3. It was easy to make the heart game, losing only one trick in trumps, one in diamonds and one in clubs.

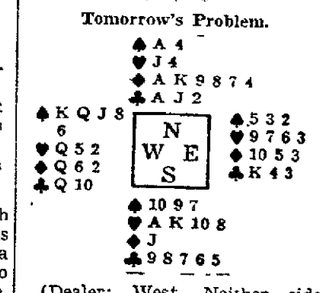
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

In rubber bridge, if the bidding starts with 1-Diamond by North, 1 Heart by South and 1-Spade by West, what should be the ensuing course of the auction if East and West are average players, and what if they are expert cardsmen?

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Oh, no," Ronald answered quickly. "I should not think of troubling Mrs. Underwood again. I imagine she would rather be left free to take care of her husband."

"Yes, she is very devoted to him," my father replied, so mechanically that I knew his attention was fixed on something far afield. "And now if you're ready, we'll start."

He hurried us to the car waiting for us, saying "I had your bags put in here, Margaret, before we started."

I made no sign of surprise at this fresh indication of the way he was shunting me around like a pawn on a chessboard, and he did not speak again until we had reached the hotel. There he took us up to my floor without going near the desk.

"You have your key?" he asked me in a low tone when we had left the elevator.

Consults His Guard.

"Yes, I have," I answered, giving him the suite key from my bag. He took us in, looked through the rooms carefully, then opened the camouflaged door to the other suite, which was still assigned to me.

"Anything to report, Adams?" he asked.

"Not a thing," a masculine voice rejoined. "Everything quiet."

"Good!" my father said. "Now you are to stay right here until further notice. You are not to leave this suite, no matter what the emergency, unless you first have permission from me. Understand?"

"Everything's clear," the man said, and my father closed the door and turned to me.

"Does that answer your fears regarding Mr. Milner?" he asked.

"I have had none since you told me that you knew about him," I said sedately, and my father thawed visibly.

"Thank you," he said. "Incidentally, Milner thinks Adams is his own man."

He stooped and kissed me, then went to the door.

"Good-bye, my darling," he said. "I will be back within the hour, and will explain more fully the duties of the man Adams. Good-bye, Ronald."

"Good-bye sir," the boy replied. But when my father had gone Ronald turned to me.

"Do you mind, Aunt Madge, if I range up and down the room a bit?" he asked. "I—I can't sit still, someway. I'm afraid I'm an awful nuisance, but—"

"Don't talk nonsense!" I told him, and fancied that his tension lessened slightly at the brusque command.

"Let's get down to facts," I went on in the same manner, careful to keep any hint of sympathy out of my voice. "It's easy to see that something especial is worrying you, something you haven't confided to anyone. Now I'm a father confessor of parts; rather, a mother confessor, I suppose I should say."

I knew I was prattling puerile nonsense, but I wanted to give him time to pull himself together.

"I may not be as deep as a well' I rattled on, "but I can keep a confidence, and now I'll give you another proverb. I'm not sure of the wording, but it is to the effect that a trouble shared is a trouble halved. So suppose you sit down, relax, and tell me everything that's worrying you."

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, June 23.

A particularly lively and interesting day, with much creative work in literature, correspondence, communications as well as travel and change in connection with rearranging professional, legal or other public vocations. The mind will be found keen and astute and the imagination and intuitions dependable. However, it would be well to utilize finesse.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a lively and pregressive year in which the intellectual faculties may be found exceptionally productive. All pertaining to writings, communications, advertising, publicity and public appeal should thrive, but with a measure of tact and strategem rather than straightforward approach. Travel and change of plans are indicated.

OPEN CHURCH OBSERVED FOR WEDDING OF COUPLE AT SHELBY

GALION—In the First Lutheran church, Shelby, at 2:15 p. m. Saturday, a Galion girl, Miss Thyra Schmauch, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy K. Schmauch of Galion, became the bride of Sergeant Douglas A. Horner, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Horner of Shelby. The ceremony was read by Dr. Bruce Young.

The bride was escorted down the white aisle by her mother and also was given in marraige by her. The bridal gown was of white slipper satin made with close fitting bodice, long sleeves and flaring skirt that fell into folds and a long train. The sweetheart neckline was outlined with lace and was also used in insets of the sleeves. Topping the bride's pompador was a coronet of seed pearls, embroidered in design which held in place the fingertip veil with lace that had been imported from Austria.

Her only jewelry was her grandmother's pearl earrings. She carried a white Bible bound in purple with a bouquet of white and purple orchids with stephonatis. White satin ribbons extended from the bouquet and lilies-of-the-valley were tied to all the ribbons.

The two bridesmaids, Mary Inez Britton and Margaret Resch, both of Galion, friends of the bride, wore blue faille gowns with sweetheart necklines, tight fitting bodices, full flared skirts and elbow length sleeves. They wore blue Juliet caps with matching shoulder length veils.

Maid of honor, Marjorie Phillips of Shelby, friend of the bride, wore a gown in rose faille with tight fitting bodice, flared skirt, sweetheart neckline and elbow-length sleeves. A shoulder-length veil was caught to a Juliet cap in matching rose.

Mrs. T. C. Hahn of Shelby, organist, played both Lohengrin's and Mendelssohn's wedding marches, and a duet was sung by the bridesmaids. Liebestraum was played throughout the ceremony.

Other organ numbers that were used in the program preceding the ceremony were: "At Dawning," "The Sweetest Story Ever Told," "Intermezzo," "The Rosary," and "Because."

The bridegroom wore his military uniform. He was attended by his brother, Jack Horner. The ushers were Thomas Horner and Gerald Weaver, cousin and friend, respectively, of the bridegroom.

Summer black was worn by the bride's mother. Twin silver fox scarfs were worn around her neck and her elbow-length gloves were of white. Other accessories were black, and white rosebuds were used in her corsage.

Mrs. R. V. Horner, mother of the bridegroom, was gowned in powder blue jersey with a large matching hat of straw. Her flowers were pink rosebuds.

Guests were received at the church, and immediately after this a reception was held at the home of Mrs. F. C. McGaughy in Galion, for the immediate families and friends. C. J. Ewell and Patricia Boyd, both of Galion, friends of the bride, served at the table.

Destination of the couple's wedding trip was not revealed.

Mrs. Horner was graduated from Galion high school in 1939, and plans to continue working in the office of the Stratbury Manufacturing company in Galion.

Sergeant Horner was graduated from Shelby high school in 1935 and before his induction into the army in March, 1941, was employed at the Ohio Seamless Tube company in Shelby. He is now stationed with the 83rd Ordnance company, Desert Training Center at Indio, Calif. At the end of the 15-day furlough he has now, Sergeant Horner will return to California.

Mansfield golfers, disappointed at the cancellation of the state publinks tournament at Toledo, need not miss out altogether on tourney competition this summer.

Some of them, so I hear, are planning to make up for loss of the Toledo trip by making the trek this weekend to Girard, down by Youngstown, for the Mahoning Valley Open, where prizes are awarded to the ten leading amateurs.

Bud Houston is reported all set for the Girard trip, and among the others seriously considering the tourney is Joe Mayer, who has made a habit of finishing in the first four of the publinks.

"I don't think these amateurs come any tougher than they do in the publinks," says Joe.

For Joe's benefit, I'm passing along the word here that post entries at Girard probably will be accepted.

At least Tom Raklets, Westbrook County club pro, and pro last year at Girard, thinks they will be. "I handled all the entries last year, and we were taking tee-time fees then," says Tom. "I don't know why they shouldn't take 'em in a war year."

So it's off to the golfing wars again, even though some of these wars of the links have been stopped by THE WAR.

* * *

Raklets believes good iron shooters among the local golf colony should fare alright at Girard.

"We cut the course down by 500 yards last fall," Tom reports, "leaving it a fairly easy par 68, with only one really long par five hole."

So if the boys are down the middle with their drives, and have a good iron game to send to the greens, they should do okay. And that's the way Mayer plays the game.

"I'd like to go to that tournament myself this year," says Raklets, "just to get back home and see the boys. But I'm too darned busy here at the club.

"That free golf class I started in the spring for children of the members is keeping up in great shape. Since school closed I've changed the class to mid-week mornings, and Friday I had 29 kids out here, still enthusiastic over the game. Altogether we have over 50 enrolled, and the attendance average has kept up in encouraging style."

That's the idea — teach 'em while they're young. Most of the good publinks golfers here in Mansfield learned the game as caddies.

CLAY COURTS TITLE REACHES DECISION

ST. LOUIS — (U.P.) — Seymour Greenberg of Chicago and Harris Everett of Jacksonville, Fla., meet today for the National Clay Courts tennis championship at the Triple A courts here.

Greenberg, Illinois state champion and captain of the Northwestern university team, upset top-seeded William Talbert

Cardinals Socked In Flatbush

Lose Three Full Games to Loop-Leading Bums.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

SADDER but wiser, the St. Louis Cardinals limped toward Boston today, able to rejoice in only two things—their departure from Brooklyn and the discovery of one pitcher who can fool the devastating Dodgers.

When the Cards invaded Brooklyn last week they were riding on a seven-game winning streak and trailing the National league leaders by only four games and a half.

But Brooklyn slapped the Cardinals down four times out of five, pushed them three full games further behind, and sent them on their weary way.

For the Cards, the only bright spot of their visit was provided by Pitcher Mort Cooper.

He handcuffed the league champs on five hits in the first game of yesterday's doubleheader, for an 11-0 shutout.

But the second game was the same old story again. Kirby Higbe pitched seven-hit ball for the Dodgers, who bunched their blows off Howard Pollet for a 5-2 decision. Joe Medwick connected safely in both games, stretching his consecutive game hitting streak to 25.

Elsewhere in the majors the hurlers turned in some pretty fair country pitching.

Tex Hughson of the Boston Red Sox tossed a neat three-hitter, Cliff Melton pitched a four-hitter for the New York Giants and Hank Borowy of the New York Yanks turned in a five-hit job—all shutouts. Luman Harris of the Philadelphia Athletics and Ray Starr of the Cincinnati Reds also had five-hitters, but both yielded runs.

Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox became the second active pitcher to win 250 games, joining Red Ruffing of the Yanks, who reached that goal only two weeks ago. Only 18 other hurlers ever have won that many games and only 10 have done it since the turn of the century.

* * *

Melton pitched the Giants to a 5-0 triumph over the Chicago Cubs in the first game yesterday, but the Cubs took the nightcap, 7-2.

The Cincinnati Reds and the Philadelphia Phils split, the Phils winning first, 3-2, behind six-hit pitching by Tommy Hughes and the Reds rallying behind Starr to square accounts, 2-1.

Pinch-hitter Eddie Stewart tripled in the tenth inning with the bases loaded to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 7-3 decision over the Boston Braves. The second game wasn't played.

The Cleveland Indians handed the New York Yankees their fifth straight loss, 3-2, but Borowy led the world champions out of the wilderness with a 4-0 shutout in the nightcap, preserving that seven-game lead.

Lyons pitched the White Sox to a 6-5 win over the Boston Red Sox in the first game, but Hughson evened it up in the second, which Boston won, 7-0.

Detroit and Al Benton beat Washington and Buck Newsom, 4-1, in the top half of their twin bill, only to lose the 10-inning nightcap to the Senators, 3-2, when Virgil Trucks, Tiger reliever, walked a man with the bases loaded.

The Philadelphia Athletics took both games from the St. Louis Browns, 4-2 and 4-3.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—Look for more big news to pop any day now on the athletic teams that have been doing a fair country job of advertising our armed forces. . . . But don't ask us to guess which direction it will pop. . . . A lot of hints have been buzzing around that there's pressure from the upper regions to give the athletes less publicity and to keep them at their training chores, but there's also the unanswerable fact that their appearances speed up enlistments.

STRIKE—WHO'S OUT?

Fort Worth sports scribes tell how Stub Overmire missed his swing at a third strike the other day and the right fielder threw him out at first base. . . . Yes, it really happened. When the ball got away from the catcher, Overmire was slow in starting to run. The catcher threw over first, but the right fielder recovered the ball and got it to the bag in time to retire Stub.

Providents Drop Overtime Game As Breaks Go Wrong

Bad breaks cost the Mansfield Provident Loan girls an extra-inning game with the Springfield Fink & Heinie Packers yesterday at North Lake park 3-5, but they tossed away the second tilt, 4-7, in one bad inning that saw the visitors send six runners across the platter.

* * *

The Providents and Packers battled 2-2 over the regulation seven-frame route in the opener, and then came a weird streak of breaks which handed the Springfielders the game in the eighth.

* * *

Ridenour, leading off, scratched a hit to short which Bucky Holda was just able to touch, but which she slowed down so that Schaefer at rover was unable to handle the ball.

Ridenour went to second on a wild pitch, and then Ash walked.

Then came the pay-off. Barringer, weakest hitter in the Springfield lineup, sliced a high fly back of first, and Ruth Whiteman, playing the ball for an expected bounce, saw it skid and hug the ground as it streaked past her. She got her gloved hand down in time to touch the ball, and when it went on into the parked cars it was good for a home run.

Providents came back with one run in the eighth on Holda's triple to deep left-center. In the seventh the Providents lost a scoring chance when the two hardest hit drives of the game, by Schuster and Jocha, went straight into the hands of the third baseman and shortstop.

Ethel Hall, making her first start on the mound for the Providents, suffered from wildness and non-support in the second inning of the nightcap as the Springfielders chalked up six runs on four hits, a walk and three errors.

Providents came back with four runs in the fourth on hits by Icemar, Myers, Herrick and Bessemer.

Betty Doughman, rated the best girl athlete in the Springfield district, pulled the "iron gal" stunt, hurling both games for the visitors, and scoring the first two runs of the opener after leading off in the second and fourth with singles.

Argentinian Enters Tourney

Proves Drawing Card on Cincinnati Courts.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— A sturdy Argentine with a ready smile made opening rounds of the tristate tennis tournament something more than merely the means of weeding out local hopefuls.

The Argentinian, Alejo Russell, was champion of his native country in 1940 and has played tennis for a dozen years, but until yesterday he'd never competed in a tournament in the United States.

Russell lost only a game in taking two sets from Lee Fosdick of Cincinnati in his debut match; and in the second round defeated John Johnson, Portsmouth, O., apple grower, 8-6, 6-2.

* * *

Johnson's retrieving ability earned him a 5-4 lead in the first set before Russell opened up.

Today Russell meets a stiffer test in a third-round match with Chalmers Ratliff, former University of Cincinnati star.

The tri-state tourney ends its Army Emergency Relief fund show here next Sunday.

Bill Vogt of Princeton, N. J., and Corp. J. Gilbert Hall of Fort Knox, Ky., easily won second-round matches with Cincinnatians yesterday.

WESTERN WOMEN'S TOURNAMENT STARTS

CHICAGO —(INS)— The western women's open title went on the block today as more than 100 outstanding performers took up their clubs in what promises to be the No. 1 golf attraction of the feminine ranks this summer.

Ben Hogan Crashes To Title

Shoots Brilliant Golf In Hale America Test.

By GAYLE TALBOT

CHICAGO—(AP)—Little Ben Hogan, some 135 pounds of pure whipcord, finally crashed through to win that major golf championship which eluded him so long while he was busy winning most of the money and otherwise establishing himself as the uncrowned king of the links.

* * *

His victory in the Hale America tournament which ended yesterday at the Ridgemoor club was about as brilliant a feat as golf has seen. His total of 271 for the 72 holes shattered by 10 strokes the record for the national open championship. On his second round the dark, diminutive ex-Texan shot an almost unbelievable 62.

Yet, ironically, the supreme goal of every golfer still eludes Ben. His name will not appear in golf's record book as winner of the national open title. Because of the war, there will be no open tournament this year. This was the closest thing to it. Hogan, though, was not in a mood to accept any sympathy after he had rolled in putts from all sorts of distances to score his clinching 68 yesterday.

"What difference does it make?" he demanded. "If this wasn't an open championship I don't know what could be. Everybody was in it. I'm glad to win, whatever they call it. I never expected to be close after that 72 I shot the first day. There were 62 other players even with me or better that night."

Ben won $1,100. The "goat" of the four-day event—and there seems to be one in every tournament—was Jimmy Demaret of Detroit. The happy-go-lucky Jimmy needed only to shoot the last four holes in par to score a 66 on his final round and finish in a tie with Hogan for the title.

Instead, he went to pieces, drove like the rankest duffer on three consecutive holes and wound up in a tie with Mike Turnesa for second place with a total of 274.

* * *

After the first three contenders, the field was widely scattered. Seven strokes behind Hogan, at 278 were Horton Smith, Jimmy Thomson and Byron Nelson, Jim Ferrier and Lloyd Mangrum. From there they soared on into the 300-odd brackets.

Red Birds Sweep Five Game Series

(By Associated Press)

Kansas City once more has taken over first place in its prolonged duel with Milwaukee for the American Association lead.

* * *

Milwaukee fell two full games behind Kansas City yesterday when Columbus swept the five game series by taking the last two contests, 6 to 1 and 4 to 1. Meanwhile, Kansas City was getting splendid pitching from Tommy Reis and Allen Gettel and trimmed Toledo twice, 3 to 0 and 4 to 1.

* * *

Louisville failed to gain on third place Minneapolis, the two clubs splitting a double header. The Millers won the first, 5 to 1; Louisville the second 8 to 5.

Indianapolis had little trouble with St. Paul, winning the twin bill, 5-1 and 2-0.

Travelers Take First Game Of City Title Series

Mansfield Travellers took the first game of their city championship baseball series from the Mansfield Athletic Supplies at Liberty park yesterday 11 to 5 by shrewd defensive work.

Although making six errors to five for the Supplies, the Travellers "bunched" their misplays with the sacks empty, while the Athletics committed their boboles when they were most costly.

Ice Man Bob Winbigler, hurling for the Supplies, got in hot water with a couple of walks, which were followed by errors, and the Travellers were traveling on their merry way.

The winners got only eight hits off Windy in compiling their 11 runs, while Pat Patterson limited the Supplies for six safe blows.

Extra-base clouting was confined to doubles by Willard Lockhart and Bob Bogantz of the Travellers.

Although there was a fairly good crowd on hand for the first hard ball game of the season in Mansfield, the collection for the United Service Organizations amounted to only $6.

* * *

The Travellers are scheduled for an exhibition game in Galion Friday at 6:30 p. m., and will tune up for the test against the JAC's with a practice session Tuesday at 6 p. m. at the Fairground.

Reds Profit On East Tour

Win Six of First Seven; Release Outfielder.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Cincinnati's past the easy half of a 14-game swing through the east, and a record of six victories in seven games ought to make today's rest well-earned.

* * *

But mingled with any self-satisfaction will be knowledge that the Redlegs' already dim chances of becoming a pennant contender can be blacked out almost completely in the next six days here.

* * *

Tuesday and Wednesday the Reds meet New York, and Thursday the Reds open a five-game series with Brooklyn's Dodgers.

The Reds lost the opener of a twin bill with the Phils Sunday 3-2 and won the nightcap, 2-1, leaving two dozen runners stranded in the two games.

* * *

One of the day's nine Philadelphia errors enabled Ray Starr to achieve his tenth victory against two setbacks in the nightcap.

* * *

Rookie Outfielder Clyde Vollmer, who came to the Reds from Syracuse June 1 and socked the first ball pitched to him in his major-league debut for a homer, was optioned to Birmingham, Redleg Southern league farm, yesterday.

They Battle On M'Arthur Fight Show

Ten of the world's top-ranking fighters will appear Tuesday at Cleveland Stadium in an all-star boxing show to raise funds for a bombing plane to send to General MacArthur, America's No. 1 hero of the war. The show will present five ten-round "main events," plus four five-round preliminaries. Matchmakers Ed Bang and Larry Atkins have signed Harry Bobo, Pittsburgh, vs. Melio Bettina, Beacon, N. Y., heavyweights; Anton Christoforidis, Cleveland, vs. Johnny Colan, New York, light-heavyweights; Joey Maxim vs. Jimmy Bivins, both of Cleveland, light-heavyweights; Lem Franklin, Cleveland, vs. Sergeant Joe Muscato, Buffalo, heavyweights, and Harry Teaney, Cleveland, vs. Maxie Shapiro, New York City, lightweights.

Yankees Finally Win One

Tribe Cops 3 Straight Before Bombers Click.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Baseball fever here hit its peak for the season over the week-end as the Indians took three out of four games from the world champion Yankees to earn an open date today.

* * *

Only contest the New Yorkers tucked away was the final of yesterday's twin bill, played in the stadium before a season's record crowd of 44,278 fans. Chubby Dean led the Tribe to a 3 to 2 victory in the opener but Rookie Red Embree and three relief flingers were slugged into a 4 to 0 setback in the nightcap.

* * *

Although the victories cut down the Yankees' lead in the American league, they left the Tribe in third place by two percentage points and 9½ games behind the leaders. Boston is second with 583 per cent, Cleveland has .538 and Detroit .536.

Kenny Keltner cracked a home run into the life field stands in the opening stanza of the first game, and that was all the scoring until the Yanks tallied twice in the eighth.

The Indians immediately tied it up at 2-all when Otto Denning opened the home half of the inning with a double, moved to third on Dean's infield out and scored on Roy Weatherly's deep fly.

Les Fleming scored the winning run in the ninth after he doubled to right with one out. Intentional walks filled the bases and Denning cracked a single to right.

Hank Borowy pitched five hit ball while shutting out the Redskins in the second game.

WED DURING OPEN CHURCH

Donna Obenour, Elmer Pesek Married Sunday at Crestline Methodist Church.

CRESTLINE—Open church was observed for the wedding of Miss Donna Ruth Obenour and Elmer J. Pesek, solemnized Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the First Methodist church.

Rev. Olin F. Hull read the double ring ceremony. The altar was banked with ferns, palms, candelabra, and baskets of white gladioli and white lilies.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, preceded by her attendants, Mary Ellen Obenour, her sister, as maid of honor, Iola Mae Michael and Mrs. Jack Beck, bridesmaids, and Shirley Meinzer, sister of the bridegroom, who served as flower girl. They were met before the altar by the bridegroom and his attendants, his brother, James Pesek, as best man, and ushers Sergt. Glenn Harter of Camp Perry, Robert Idle of Bellevue, G. T. Heck, all college mates of the bridegroom at Capital university, and Jack Beck of this city.

Nuptial music preceded the ceremony with John Kenwood Agnew of Columbus at the organ and Mrs. Walter Lasley of Ashland, aunt of the bride, as soloist.

The bride's dress was of white slipper satin made with long torso waist fastened down the front from the sweetheart neckline with self-covered buttons.

A finger-tip illusion veil was caught to the head with a sweetheart halo centered with orange blossoms. She wore a string of pearls, the gift of the groom, and carried a white Bible topped with a white gardenia from which hung shower ribbons.

The maid of honor wore pink chiffon trimmed in delft blue and carried a dark blue delphinium colonial bouquet. An orchid tulle butterfly bow was caught to her hair.

The bridesmaids' dresses were made on similar lines, Miss Michael wearing meadow green and her flowers were yellow roses, while Mrs. Beck wore yellow and carried light blue delphinium bouquet.

The flower girl wore a blue organdie floor length frock with pink bow in hair and her flowers were pink roses.

The couple paused in the church vestibule at the close of the ceremony to receive their friends informally and a reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Obenour, North Thoman street, for approximately fifty relatives. The bride's cake formed the centerpiece at the table.

Mrs. Donald King, Evelyn Emmer poured and Eleanore Meinzer assisted in serving.

The couple left later for a short wedding trip and will reside at Lake Forrest, Ill., upon their return. For traveling the bride wore a beige silk crepe suit with Kelly green accessories.

The bride graduated from Crestline high school and the Mansfield Business school. She resigned her position at Mansfield with the Ohio Fuel Gas company June 1.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Meinzer, North Thoman street, also graduated from Crestline high school and Capital university at Columbus, and enlisted in the navy. He has served as an instructor and is now on leave from Great Lakes Naval Training station.

2—Card of Thanks

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4251-6, ask for Miss Lane. She will be glad to render service and advice you need.

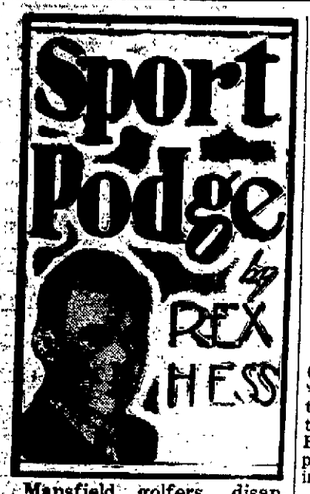
NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®



Mansfield golfers, disappointed at the cancellation of the state publinks tournament at Toledo, need not miss out altogether on tourney competition this summer.

Some of them, so I hear, are planning to make up for loss of the Toledo trip by making the trek this weekend to Girard, down by Youngstown, for the Mahoning Valley Open, where prizes are awarded to the ten leading amateurs.

Bud Houston is reported all set for the Girard trip, and among the others seriously considering the tourney is Joe Mayer, who has made a habit of finishing in the first four of the publinks.

"I don't think these amateurs come any tougher than they do in the publinks," says Joe.

For Joe's benefit, I'm passing along the word here that post entries at Girard probably will be accepted.

At least Tom Raklets, Westbrook County club pro, and pro last year at Girard, thinks they will be. "I handled all the entries last year, and we were taking tee-time fees then," says Tom. "I don't know why they shouldn't take 'em in a war year."

* * *

So it's off to the golfing wars again, even though some of these wars of the links have been stopped by THE WAR.

* * *

Raklets believes good iron shooters among the local golf colony should fare alright at Girard.

"We cut the course down by 500 yards last fall," Tom reports, "leaving it a fairly easy par 68, with only one really long par five hole."

So if the boys are down the middle with their drives, and have a good iron game to send to the greens, they should do okay. And that's the way Mayer plays the game.

"I'd like to go to that tournament myself this year," says Raklets, "just to get back home and see the boys. But I'm too darned busy here at the club.

"That free golf class I started in the spring for children of the members is keeping up in great shape. Since school closed I've changed the class to mid-week mornings, and Friday I had 29 kids out here, still enthusiastic over the game. Altogether we have over 50 enrolled, and the attendance average has kept up in encouraging style."

That's the idea — teach 'em while they're young. Most of the good publinks golfers here in Mansfield learned the game as caddies.

Stroh Golfers Win Another

Every Team Member Has Medal Under 80.

Bissman's Stroh's Beers won their third straight golf match of th eseason yesterday at Riceland, near Wooster, by the wide margir of 31 to 9.

* * *

But they saw their No. 1 man, Joe Mayer, defeated for the second time in three matches as Joe's opponent fired a 70 at him against his 73.

* * *

Pete Linster took medal honors with a 69, and Carl Wiseman tied for second honors with a 70.

The well-balanced Stroh's had every score under 80, while the Ricelanders had only three medals below the 80 mark.

Lose Three Full Games to Loop-Leading Bums.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

SADDER but wiser, the St. Louis Cardinals limped toward Boston today, able to rejoice in only two things—their departure from Brooklyn and the discovery of one pitcher who can fool the devastating Dodgers.

When the Cards invaded Brooklyn last week they were riding on a seven-game winning streak and trailing the National league leaders by only four games and a half.

* * *

But Brooklyn slapped the Cardinals down four times out of five, pushed them three full games further behind, and sent them on their weary way.

* * *

For the Cards, the only bright spot of their visit was provided by Pitcher Mort Cooper.

He handcuffed the league champs on five hits in the first game of yesterday's doubleheader, for an 11-0 shutout.

But the second game was the same old story again. Kirby Higbe pitched seven-hit ball for the Dodgers, who bunched their blows off Howard Pollet for a 5-2 decision. Joe Medwick connected safely in both games, stretching his consecutive game hitting streak to 25.

Elsewhere in the majors the hurlers turned in some pretty fair country pitching.

Tex Hughson of the Boston Red Sox tossed a neat three-hitter, Cliff Melton pitched a four-hitter for the New York Giants and Hank Borowy of the New York Yanks turned in a five-hit job—all shutouts. Luman Harris of the Philadelphia Athletics and Ray Starr of the Cincinnati Reds also had five-hitters, but both yielded runs.

Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox became the second active pitcher to win 250 games, joining Red Ruffing of the Yanks, who reached that goal only two weeks ago. Only 18 other hurlers ever have won that many games and only 10 have done it since the turn of the century.

* * *

Melton pitched the Giants to a 5-0 triumph over the Chicago Cubs in the first game yesterday, but the Cubs took the nightcap, 7-2.

The Cincinnati Reds and the Philadelphia Phils split, the Phils winning first, 3-2, behind six-hit pitching by Tommy Hughes and the Reds rallying behind Starr to square accounts, 2-1.

Pinch-hitter Eddie Stewart tripled in the tenth inning with the bases loaded to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 7-3 decision over the Boston Braves. The second game wasn't played.

The Cleveland Indians handed the New York Yankees their fifth straight loss, 3-2, but Borowy led the world champions out of the wilderness with a 4-0 shutout in the nightcap, preserving that seven-game lead.

Lyons pitched the White Sox to a 6-5 win over the Boston Red Sox in the first game, but Hughson evened it up in the second, which Boston won, 7-0.

Detroit and Al Benton beat Washington and Buck Newsom, 4-1, in the top half of their twin bill, only to lose the 10-inning nightcap to the Senators, 3-2, when Virgil Trucks, Tiger reliever, walked a man with the bases loaded.

The Philadelphia Athletics took both games from the St. Louis Browns, 4-2 and 4-3.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—Look for more big news to pop any day now on the athletic teams that have been doing a fair country job of advertising our armed forces. . . . But don't ask us to guess which direction it will pop. . . . A lot of hints have been buzzing around that there's pressure from the upper regions to give the athletes less publicity and to keep them at their training chores, but there's also the unanswerable fact that their appearances speed up enlistments.

STRIKE—WHO'S OUT?

Fort Worth sports scribes tell how Stub Overmire missed his swing at a third strike the other day and the right fielder threw him out at first base. . . . Yes, it really happened. When the ball got away from the catcher, Overmire was slow in starting to run. The catcher threw over first, but the right fielder recovered the ball and got it to the bag in time to retire Stub.

MEL HEIN TAKES JOB AT UNION COLLEGE

SCHENECTADY, N. Y.—(AP)—Mel Hein will become head football coach at Union college in 1943 after completing an even dozen years with the New York Giants next fall.

College officials announced the appointment effective Jan. 1, 1943 today, saying the veteran center's contract with the Giants extends through the coming season. In addition to his coaching duties, Hein will be associate professor of physical education.

Providents Drop Overtime Game As Breaks Go Wrong

Bad breaks cost the Mansfield Provident Loan girls an extra-inning game with the Springfield Fink & Heinie Packers yesterday at North Lake park 3-5, but they tossed away the second tilt, 4-7, in one bad inning that saw the visitors send six runners across the platter.

* * *

The Providents and Packers battled 2-2 over the regulation seven-frame route in the opener, and then came a weird streak of breaks which handed the Springfielders the game in the eighth.

* * *

Ridenour, leading off, scratched a hit to short which Bucky Holda was just able to touch, but which she slowed down so that Schaefer at rover was unable to handle the ball.

Ridenour went to second on a wild pitch, and then Ash walked.

Then came the pay-off. Barringer, weakest hitter in the Springfield lineup, sliced a high fly back of first, and Ruth Whiteman, playing the ball for an expected bounce, saw it skid and hug the ground as it streaked past her. She got her gloved hand down in time to touch the ball, and when it went on into the parked cars it was good for a home run.

Providents came back with one run in the eighth on Holda's triple to deep left-center. In the seventh the Providents lost a scoring chance when the two hardest hit drives of the game, by Schuster and Jocha, went straight into the hands of the third baseman and shortstop.

Ethel Hall, making her first start on the mound for the Providents, suffered from wildnuess and non-support in the second inning of the nightcap as the Springfielders chauked up six runs on four hits, a walk and three errors.

* * *

Providents came back with four runs in the fourth on hits by Iceman, Myers, Herrick and Bessemer.

Betty Doughman, rated the best girl athlete in the Springfield district, pulled the "iron gal" stunt, hurling both games for the visitors, and scoring the first two runs of the opener after leading off in the second and fourth with singles.

Argentinian Enters Tourney

Proves Drawing Card on Cincinnati Courts.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— A sturdy Argentine with a ready smile made opening rounds of the tri-state tennis tournament something more than merely the means of weeding out local hopefuls.

The Argentinian, Alejo Russell, was champion of his native country in 1940 and has played tennis for a dozen years, but until yesterday he'd never competed in a tournament in the United States.

* * *

Russell lost only a game in taking two sets from Lee Fosdick of Cincinnati in his debut match; and in the second round defeated John Johnson, Portsmouth, O., apple grower, 8-6, 6-2.

* * *

Johnson's retrieving ability earned him a 5-4 lead in the first set before Russell opened up.

Today Russell meets a stiffer test in a third-round match with Chalmers Ratliff, former University of Cincinnati star.

The tri-state tourney ends its Army Emergency Relief fund show here next Sunday.

Bill Vogt of Princeton, N. J., and Corp. J. Gilbert Hall of Fort Knox, Ky., easily won second-round matches with Cincinnatians yesterday.

WESTERN WOMEN'S TOURNAMENT STARTS

Ben Hogan Crashes To Title

Shoots Brilliant Golf In Hale America Test.

By GAYLE TALBOT

CHICAGO—(AP)—Little Ben Hogan, some 135 pounds of pure whipcord, finally crashed through to win that major golf championship which eluded him so long while he was busy winning most of the money and otherwise establishing himself as the uncrowned king of the links.

* * *

His victory in the Hale America tournament which ended yesterday at the Ridgemoor club was about as brilliant a feat as golf has seen. His total of 271 for the 72 holes shattered by 10 strokes the record for the national open championship. On his second round the dark, diminutive ex-Texan shot an almost unbelievable 62.

Yet, ironically, the supreme goal of every golfer still eludes Ben. His name will not appear in golf's record book as winner of the national open title. Because of the war, there will be no open tournament this year. This was the closest thing to it. Hogan, though, was not in a mood to accept any sympathy after he had rolled in putts from all sorts of distances to score his clinching 68 yesterday.

"What difference does it make?" he demanded. "If this wasn't an open championship I don't know what could be. Everybody was in it. I'm glad to win, whatever they call it. I never expected to be close after that 72 I shot the first day. There were 62 other players even with me or better that night."

Ben won $1,100. The "goat" of the four-day event—and there seems to be one in every tournament—was Jimmy Demaret of Detroit. The happy-go-lucky Jimmy needed only to shoot the last four holes in par to score a 66 on his final round and finish in a tie with Hogan for the title.

Instead, he went to pieces, drove like the rankest duffer on three consecutive holes and wound up in a tie with Mike Turnesa for second place with a total of 274.

* * *

After the first three contenders, the field was widely scattered. Seven strokes behind Hogan, at 278 were Horton Smith, Jimmy Thomson and Byron Nelson, Jim Ferrier and Lloyd Mangrum. From there they soared on into the 300-odd brackets.

Red Birds Sweep Five Game Series

(By Associated Press)

Kansas City once more has taken over first place in its prolonged duel with Milwaukee for the American Association lead.

* * *

Milwaukee fell two full games behind Kansas City yesterday when Columbus swept the five game series by taking the last two contests, 6 to 1 and 4 to 1. Meanwhile, Kansas City was getting splendid pitching from Tommy Reis and Allen Gettel and trimmed Toledo twice, 3 to 0 and 4 to 1.

* * *

Louisville failed to gain on third place Minneapolis, the two clubs splitting a double header. The Millers won the first, 5 to 1; Louisville the second 8 to 5.

Indianapolis had little trouble with St. Paul, winning the twin bill, 5-1 and 2-0.

Travelers Take First Game Of City Title Series

Mansfield Travellers took the first game of their city championship baseball series from the Mansfield Athletic Supplies at Liberty park yesterday 11 to 5 by shrewd defensive work.

Although making six errors to five for the Supplies, the Travellers "bunched" their misplays with the sacks empty, while the Athletics committed their boboles when they were most costly.

* * *

Ice Man Bob Winbigler, hurling for the Supplies, got in hot water with a couple of walks, which were followed by errors, and the Travellers were traveling on their merry way.

The winners got only eight hits off Windy in compiling their 11 runs, while Pat Patterson limited the Supplies for six safe blows.

Extra-base clouting was confined to doubles by Willard Lockhart and Bob Bogantz of the Travellers.

Although there was a fairly good crowd on hand for the first hard ball game of the season in Mansfield, the collection for the United Service Organizations amounted to only $6.

* * *

The Travellers are scheduled for an exhibition game in Galion Friday at 6:30 p. m., and will tune up for the test against the JAC's with a practice session Tuesday at 6 p. m. at the Fairground.

Reds Profit On East Tour

Win Six of First Seven; Release Outfielder.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Cincinnati's past, the easy half of a 14-game swing through the east, and a record of six victories in seven games ought to make today's rest well-earned.

* * *

But mingled with any self-satisfaction will be knowledge that the Redlegs' already dim chances of becoming a pennant contender can be blacked out almost completely in the next six days here.

* * *

Tuesday and Wednesday the Reds meet New York, and Thursday the Reds open a five-game series with Brooklyn's Dodgers.

The Reds lost the opener of a twin bill with the Phils Sunday 3-2 and won the nightcap, 2-1, leaving two dozen runners stranded in the two games.

* * *

One of the day's nine Philadelphia errors enabled Ray Starr to achieve his tenth victory against two setbacks in the nightcap.

* * *

Rookie Outfielder Clyde Vollmer, who came to the Reds from Syracuse June 1 and socked the first ball pitched to him in his major-league debut for a homer, was optioned to Birmingham, Redleg Southern league farm, yesterday.

Yankees Finally Win One

Tribe Cops 3 Straight Before Bombers Click.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Baseball fever here hit its peak for the season over the week-end as the Indians took three out of four games from the world champion Yankees to earn an open date today.

* * *

Only contest the New Yorkers tucked away was the final of yesterday's twin bill, played in the stadium before a season's record crowd of 44,278 fans. Chubby Dean led the Tribe to a 3 to 2 victory in the opener but Rookie Red Embree and three relief flingers were slugged into a 4 to 0 setback in the nightcap.

* * *

Although the victories cut down the Yankees' lead in the American league, they left the Tribe in third place by two percentage points and 9½ games behind the leaders. Boston is second with 583 per cent, Cleveland has .538 and Detroit .536.

Kenny Keltner cracked a home run into the life field stands in the opening stanza of the first game, and that was all the scoring until the Yanks tallied twice in the eighth.

The Indians immediately tied it up at 2-all when Otto Denning opened the home half of the inning with a double, moved to third on Dean's infield out and scored on Roy Weatherly's deep fly.

Les Fleming scored the winning run in the ninth after he doubled to right with one out. Intentional walks filled the bases and Denning cracked a single to right.

Hank Borowy pitched five hit ball while shutting out the Redskins in the second game.

Donna Obenour, Elmer Pesek Married Sunday at Crestline Methodist Church.

CRESTLINE—Open church was observed for the wedding of Miss Donna Ruth Obenour and Elmer J. Pesek, solemnized Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at the First Methodist church.

Rev. Olin F. Hull read the double ring ceremony. The altar was banked with ferns, palms, candelabra, and baskets of white gladioli and white lilies.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, preceded by her attendants, Mary Ellen Obenour, her sister, as maid of honor, Icla Mae Michael and Mrs. Jack Beck, bridesmaids, and Shirley Meinzer, sister of the bridegroom, who served as flower girl. They were met before the altar by the bridegroom and his attendants, his brother, James Pesek, as best man, and ushers Sergt. Glenn Harter of Camp Perry, Robert Idle of Bellevue, G. T. Heck, all college mates of the bridegroom at Capital university, and Jack Beck of this city.

Nuptial music preceded the ceremony with John Kenwood Agnew of Columbus at the organ and Mrs. Walter Lasley of Ashland, aunt of the bride, as soloist.

The bride's dress was of white slipper satin made with long torso waist fastened down the front from the sweetheart neckline with self-covered buttons.

A finger-tip illusion veil was caught to the head with a sweetheart halo centered with orange blossoms. She wore a string of pearls, the gift of the groom, and carried a white Bible topped with a white gardenia from which hung shower ribbons.

The maid of honor wore pink chiffon trimmed in delft blue and carried a dark blue delphinium colonial bouquet. An orchid tulle butterfly bow was caught to her hair.

The bridesmaids' dresses were made on similar lines, Miss Michael wearing meadow green and her flowers were yellow roses, while Mrs. Beck wore yellow and carried light blue delphinium bouquet.

The flower girl wore a blue organdie floor length frock with pink bow in hair and her flowers were pink roses.

The couple paused in the church vestibule at the close of the ceremony to receive their friends informally and a reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Obenour, North Thoman street, for approximately fifty relatives. The bride's cake formed the centerpiece at the table.

Mrs. Donald King, Evelyn Emmer poured and Eleanore Meinzer assisted in serving.

The couple left later for a short wedding trip and will reside at Lake Forrest, Ill., upon their return. For traveling the bride wore a beige silk crepe suit with Kelly green accessories.

The bride graduated from Crestline high school and the Mansfield Business school. She resigned her position at Mansfield with the Ohio Fuel Gas company June 1.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Meinzer, North Thoman street, also graduated from Crestline high school and Capital university at Columbus, and enlisted in the navy. He has served as an instructor and is now on leave from Great Lakes Naval Training station.

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. PESSIMISTIC TONE OF WAR NEWS BLAMED

Leading Stocks Hit Slump Together, But Only By Fractions

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — The pessimistic tone of the war news was blamed mainly for lower prices in today's stock market proceedings.

Losers of fractions to a point or so included American Telephone, U. S. Steel, General Motors, Anaconda, Santa Fe, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, U. S. Rubber, United Aircraft and Consolidated Edison.

Trend analysts scanned the survey of the magazine "Steel" which said that, while specifications for steel continued heavy, new orders were relatively light. Duration of the present lull in new business, it was added, was difficult to prophesy.

Noted also was the compilation of the Iron & Steel institute disclosing more iron and steel scrap was consumed in May than in any month in the history of the industry.

Modern Noah's 'Ark' Burns

Bill Greenwood, a hermit of near Olympia, Wash., believed a tidal wave would one day engulf the Pacific coast. So, 20 years ago, Bill built an ark. The prophesied wall of water never arrived, but the police authorities did and they condemned Greenwood's ark as a fire hazard. So Greenwood's ark was legally burned. In the above picture Bill may be seen gesticulating frantically as flames destroyed the structure.

TELLS GRAPHIC STORY OF U. S. MIDWAY SCRAP

Newsman Aboard Warship Gives Eye-Witness Account of Naval Victory.

Here is a time table of the first and decisive day:

Dawn — The men are eating sandwiches on deck. There is a chill wind and the sky is overcast but visibility is good.

7:55 a. m. — A Midway scout plane reports spotting a Japanese carrier. Bright multi-colored flags run up on the halyards tell the news. The ship speeds up to 25 knots. It picks up the first wave of enemy planes heading for Midway and soon it is launching planes.

9 a. m.—We locate a second enemy fleet 340 miles west of Midway and a third composed of transports southwest of it. Our carriers launch more than 100 planes and the sky is filled with torpedo bombers, fighters, dive bombers and scouters.

9:55 a. m.—We are ordered to proceed to the attack.

11:05 a. m.—Our planes attack the first enemy carrier and locate eight enemy cruisers in column. Midway reports shooting down eight enemy planes and says the island's airdrome has not been damaged in the Japanese plane attack.

12:20 p. m.—A second air group is attacking the enemy. We received the message from our fighters: "Here they come." The enemy fighters come in clouds, 12 miles away, and our planes are told: "Step on it. The enemy is intercepted."

12:30 p. m.—Some of our bombers and fighters are already returning from the attack on Japanese carriers. Some are missing but they have all dropped bombs and torpedoes.

1:40 p. m —Enemy planes are sighted. The fleet signal is run up: "Prepare to repel attack." Our planes attack. The enemy planes break up and drop their bombs in the water.

2:45 p. m. — The Japanese planes start a torpedo attack on our second group. Anti-aircraft fire starts and the sky is suddenly filled with black puffs. A Japanese suicide pilot plunged his plane against the stacks of one of our carriers.

4 p. m.—We locate enemy aircraft and again prepare to repel attack. Our carrier's fighter planes are ready in line and take off.

The first torpedoes from the planes splash into the water 3,000 to 4,000 yards away. Another comes within 500 yards and cuts across our bow. We can see its wake bubbling as it goes on. This attack is beaten off.

5.40 p. m. — There is another attack alarm but the enemy planes do not even reach us.

7:20 p. m.—We form an anti-submarine screen and steam off to pursue the enemy. The planes are in constant contact with the enemy planes. Tension is relaxing

8:56 p. m.—The enemy is retiring. Our last report is that the enemy seems trying only for greater and greater speed to get away.

5 LEAVE FOR ARMY TODAY

Relatives, Friends on Hand as Quintet Departs For Induction Center.

Another contingent of selectees —a group of five colored registrants, left Mansfield this morning for an Army induction center.

There was no official send-off, but a large crowd of relatives and friends gathered outside the Richland Trust building to bid farewell as they boarded a Columbus-bound bus. They were presented Testaments, sewing kits, and other gifts provided by the Richland Victory Civic committee.

Meanwhile, approximately one-fourth of the contingent which left the city Saturday returned to Mansfield after failing to pass the physical examination at the induction center. The three draft boards were expected to receive official notification today or tomorrow of the men in the group who were accepted for service.

The contingents which left Saturday and today come under the former system of granting furloughs on special request for those men accepted. Henceforth, 14-day furloughs will be granted selectees immediately after their induction.

The three boards this week are busy in preparing occupational questionnaires for mailing to registrants in the non-military age group between 45 and 65 years of age, and in preparation for registration of youths between the ages of 18 and 20 years, six months, who have not heretofore registered.

This registration will be held next Saturday, June 27, from noon to 6 p. m., and on the following Tuesday, June 30, from 7 a. m. to 9 p m.

will arrange for the pick-ups by the county trucks.

Mayor W. J. Locke today issued a proclamation emphasizing the importance of the scrap rubber collection and urging all residents of the city to cooperate whole-heartedly in the drive.

In Washington, officials termed the public response to the drive "almost unbelievable." They said that although it is impossible to make any accurate estimates at this time of the results of the drive, scattered returns from the nation's 400,000 filling stations show that more than 50,000 tons of scrap rubber already has been collected.

Some residents are contributing their scrap rubber, while others are accepting the penny a pound which filling station operators and attendants pay for the scrap on request.

Survey Indicates Army Will Take 20 Mansfield Doctors

they are maternity case specialists is expected to have little if any effect on their acceptance by the Army medical corps, as it is pointed out that there is considerable volume of maternity cases among the large colonies of officers' wives at training centers.

The action of the physicians in applying for commissions is on a voluntary basis at present, but it is anticipated that there will be compulsory action by the army through the selective service system if the army finds itself short of doctors for its rapidly-expanding forces. Mansfield's three draft boards have received instructions from state draft headquarters to submit a list by Thursday of all physicians of draft age within the board's jurisdiction.

If accepted, at least four of the Mansfield physicians will receive the rank of major, it was believed. These will include men past 37 who have special certificates, such as that of the American Board of Ophthalmology. Others will receive the rank of captain or first lieutenant.

Somewhat the same condition, although less drastic in its possible effect on the number left in practice here, is the situation among dentists. Four are already in service, five more have applied for commissions, and at least three or four more are considering entering their applications when the medical recruiting board returns here Monday.

After commissions are conferred upon the doctors and dentists next Monday, the officers will be subject to call to duty from any time within one day or two weeks

Those expecting to be drawn into service are busy making preparations to close their offices and store their equipment. As might be expected, the doctors and dentists anticipating army service are busier than usual, as regular patients come in for check-ups or treatment.

While the greatest effect will be felt from the granting of army commissions, announcement was made today in Chicago — headquarters for this naval district—that the navy, too, needs doctors and dentists. Those from 21 to 50 who can pass the examinations may apply for commissions, the announcement stated.

EYERLY, FORMER FIREMAN, DIES

Veteran Who Served Mansfield Department 38 Years to Be Buried Wednesday.

Charles H. Eyerly, 75, a veteran of the Mansfield fire department who served when the city's fire-fighting apparatus was horse-drawn, died unexpectedly early today at General hospital after an illness of only a few hours.

Mr. Eyerly retired from active service with the fire department in the spring of 1929. He was taken to the hospital last night after being suddenly taken ill at his home, 26½ North Diamond street.

When Mr. Eyerly joined the fire department, 38 years ago, all of the equipment was horse-drawn. He was a driver on the old chemical pumper of the department.

Mr. Eyerly helped fight many of the city's big fires, including the two which destroyed large warehouses of the old Aultman-Taylor company. The first fire, in the late '90's burned a four-story frame warehouse while another warehouse burned in 1913.

The veteran fireman was promoted to the rank of captain Jan. 23, 1911 when the No. 4 fire station was established on Newman street. Most of his years of service were spent at Station No. 1.

Mr. Eyerly was past noble grand of Mansfield lodge, No. 19, I. O. O. F., and was also a member of several firemen's organizations.

Survivors are a sister, Mrs. Ella Plank of Ashland and a brother, A. B. Eyerly of Mansfield.

The body was removed to the Wappner Funeral home where services will be conducted Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. with Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of the First Lutheran church, officiating. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.
